Flood Tops 30-Foot Mark But Dikes Hold

Later Talks To Be Held With Murray

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer last night summoned the private owners of the seized steel industry to his office this morning — perhaps to tell them how much the government will boost worker wages.

Sawyer, government boss of the seized industry, said he would meet later today with CIO President Philip Murray. Murray said yesterday he expects the government to "impose" the full amount of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) recommendations.

Murray told a National Press Club luncheon he would take nothing less than the 26-cents-an-hour recommended by the WSB. He indicated, however, there would be no strike by the CIO Steelworkers if the government gave him less.

"I have never struck against the government in my life," Murray said. "That question would have to be decided at our union convention in Philadelphia next month."

President Truman, the target of continuing bitter attacks on his seizure of the mills, told a news conference that he, and not Sawyer, would have the final word on the amount of a government-directed pay boost, if any, for Murray's members. Murray made clear in the Press Club talk that he expected to get the controversial union shop, as well as all other WSB settlement recommendations.

Sawyer made his announcement of today's meeting with steel company executives after talking privately during the day with Murray and U. S. Steel Corp. President Benjamin Fairless. The nature of these talks was kept secret.

Charles M. White, president of Republic Steel Corp., meanwhile said in a statement that Ellis Arnall, price stabilizer, had used "distortions" in contending that steel profits are over $20 a ton before taxes.

White said Arnall "brushes off the fact, on the basis of his own figures, that the profit after taxes is less than one-third that amount."

Truman indirectly defended steel industry seizure at his news conference. He said he felt he has constitutional power to seize the nation's newspapers and radio stations if he regarded such a step as necessary to protect the best interests of the country.

Murray insisted he wouldn't take less than the WSB proposals.

"I have said both to the steel industry and to the government that the steelworkers are not going to further compromise their position in this matter," Murray said grimly. "Our union is sticking definitely and adamantly to the Wage Board's recommendations."

He said he was against seizure or "any form of government interference in labor disputes" as a "matter of principle" just as, he said, he is against any form of Socialism.

But he said the facts were that at government request he had five times postponed strike action. He said he would have preferred to fight out his problem with the industry in collectively bargaining or by a strike.

Kidnaped, Released

Miami, Fla., (AP)—Dan Richter, six-year-old member of the wealthy Richter jewelry family of Mima, was kidnaped for ransom from a private school yesterday and later released unharmed. Police reported the lad was freed on payment of $15,000 worth of diamonds and $200 in cash.

Permanent Cleanup

Washington (AP) —Newbold Morris, ousted three weeks ago as No. 1 sleuth in the Truman administration anti-corruption drive, proposed yesterday creation of a permanent Federal agency to enforce honesty in government.

Truman Writing History To Suit Himself: Byrnes

Washington (AP) — James F. Byrnes made a blistering attack on President Truman yesterday accusing him of writing history to suit himself and of playing into Russian hands with a "wrong statement" about the Polish-German boundary.

Byrnes, former secretary of state under Truman and now governor of South Carolina, spoke out in a Colliers magazine article. The article was prompted by publication in the recent book "Mr. President" of a letter which the President said he had read to Byrnes, bawling him out after the Moscow conference of December, 1945.

The letter depicted Truman as demanding a tough policy toward Russia from Byrnes, of insisting that Byrnes let him make foreign policy and of calling for an "iron fist" to hold Soviet ambitions in check.

Byrnes previously had denied, when the book was published, that Truman had ever read any such stinging rebuke to him.

"Among the numerous jottings made by Mr. Truman and printed in the book is this one: 'I am going to spend the rest of my life in an endeavor to cause a return to truthful writing and reporting.' I regret he did not reach that determination before he decided to write this memorandum letter and place it in the files."

The statement which Byrnes charges plays into Russian hands was one of those in the letter, referring to the Big Three meeting at Potsdam in the Summer of 1945. The letter read:

"At Potsdam we were faced with an accomplished fact and were by circumstances almost forced to agree to Russian occupation of eastern Poland and the occupation of that part of Germ-Poland."

The circumstances, according to the President, were that "we any east of the Oder River by were anxious" for Russian entry into the war against Japan.

Byrnes asserted he was not anxious for this, and he thought the President shared his view at Potsdam. He said he had advised the Chinese Nationalist government not to make any concessions to the Russians beyond those previously made at the Yalta conference by the Western powers in order to interest Russia in fighting Japan.

Furthermore, Byrnes said the President "is wrong" about having agreed to the territorial changes, or boundary lines, involving Russia, Poland and Germany.

"We did not reach such an agreement," Byrnes declared. "At Stuttgart in a speech I made with the approval of the President I told the German people there was no such agreement. It is unfortunate at this time that Mr. Truman should make this statement. The Soviets will welcome it.

U. N. Willing To Resume POW Talks

Munsan, Korea, Friday (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators told the Communists today they are ready to reopen secret staff officer talks tomorrow on the deadlocked prisoner of war issue.

The secret parleys on exchange of Korean war prisoners have been recessed for two weeks. Both sides presumbaly have been exploring new methods to solve the dispute.

The Reds have been ready for a resumption of the prisoner talks for several days.

The talks bogged down over a Communist demand that all prisoners be exchanged. The U. N. command said it will not send back any prisoner who doesn't want to go.

Col. Chang Chun San, North Korea liaison officer, received the message the UNC was ready to reopen the talks immediately after a short and unproductive session of subdelegates discussing truce supervision.

Col. James Murray said the Allies are ready to resume the POW talks at 11 a.m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Friday EST).

Chang said the Communist would reply later in the day. But it is assumed they will agree since the Communists today, for a third time, expressed willingness to resume the talks. They first suggested a renewal of the secret meetings last Sunday.

The subdelegates met for eight minutes and 45 seconds today. There was no progress on the issues of Red nomination of Russia as a neutral, which the U. N. command opposes, and the U. N. demand for a ban on airfield construction, which the Reds say is none of its business.

Two Warships Engage Reds

Seoul, Korea, Friday (AP) — An American and a British destroyer yesterday dueled with Communist shore batteries on Korea's northeast coast. Neither ship was damaged.

The Navy said the HMS Concord received 35 to 50 nearby splashes from six enemy 105-millimeter guns in the Songjin sector. At Kojo, about 150 miles south of Songjin, the USS S. N. Moore reported four rounds of enemy fire close aboard after the American warship had shelled a troop bivouac, an ammunition dump, and a gun position.

The Navy announcement did not say whether any of the Red guns were knocked out by the Allied destroyers.

On the battle line, United Nations infantry parried Communist probes on the central and western fronts. Sporadic enemy artillery fire continued into this morning.

$420 Million Fire Levels 5,000 Houses

Tokyo, Friday (AP)— A great fire that raged out of control for 12 hours today destroyed 5,000 houses in Tottori and left possibly 27,000 of the 61,000 population homeless, Kyodo news agency reported.

The fire left one-third of the city in ashes, including the heart of the business district in the prefectural capital. Kyodo said first estimates put property losses at 15 billion yen ($420 million).

At least 160 Japanese were injured, but no deaths were reported.

It was by far the worst fire in Japan since the surrender of 1945 put an end to the desolating fire raids of Allied warplanes.

Relatives Of Airman To Fight Case

El Paso, Tex., (AP)—Relatives of an Air Force co-pilot sentenced to prison for refusal to fly said yesterday they planned to fight his case—to the President if necessary.

Friends and relatives joined the wife of Lt. Verne Goodwin in protesting his two-year prison sentence.

As this step developed in Goodwin's behalf, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg told newsmen in Washington a "so-called" stay-down strike of fliers was a "tempest in a teapot."

Goodwin is 29 and a native of Peabody, Mass. He refused to fly in a C-124 transport plane to England last December. He said he feared it would have caused his wife to lose their unborn child.

Vandenberg's comments were about a more general situation—of which Goodwin's case was a part.

The Air Force chief said publicity given to charges brought against a "small" number of airmen "is not indicative of anything as great as seems to appear on the surface." He said he didn't believe the trouble would continue, because the Air Force stopped recalling reservists involuntarily five months ago.

Goodwin was convicted of insubordination by a military court at Biggs Air Force Base here Wednesday. He was sentenced to two years at hard labor, dismissal from the service, and forfeit of pay.

Mrs. Shiffer, 86, Claimed By Death

Mrs. Mary A. Shiffer, 86, widow of Thomas Shiffer, died at 12:17 a.m. today at the home of her son, Granville, of Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg.

Further details will be announced by Dunkleberger and Westbrook funeral home.

Council Bluffs, Omaha Brace For Crest At Dawn

Omaha (AP) — The angry flood waters of the Missouri River swirled above the 30-foot mark—more than 11 feet over flood stage—last night but the dikes of Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., held firm.

An awful suspense gripped the twin cities with the crest of the greatest flood in the wild Missouri's history only hours away.

By dawn, the Missouri would be throwing against the dikes and flood walls the worst it has to offer.

There was some seepage at critical points last night but Army engineers said pumps were keeping up with it.

Would the dikes continue to hold?

Will the construction genius of engineers and the brawn of the thousands who joined in a hasty recent-day effort to bolster and raise the levies be up to the test?

There was a feeling in Council Bluffs, from Mayor James F. Mulqueen down to the men working on the levees, that the battle might be won. The same guarded optimism prevailed in Omaha.

But it was touch and go.

The unprecedented mass of water, constricted into a bottleneck formed by the cities, pushed with terrifying force against the protective works."

Every hour brought new troubles, and yet new hope.

Sandbolls developed and brought pinpointed rushes of workers to chock them.

Water pushed against and spilled through the flashboard which tops the concrete flood wall along Omaha's industrial riverfront. Pumps lifted the overflow back into the channel.

Secondary and supplementary levees were erected and bolstered wherever second lines of defense seemed warranted as engineers dusted off every trick in the flood-fighting book.

Levees were so saturated they oozed water. One Army engineer described them as "jelly-like" from the soaking. Light afternoon rain softened the tops and access roads, hampering the movement of sandbags and equipment.

Out of water's reach, no matter what happens, were some 34,000 of Council Bluffs' 45,000 residents and another 5,000 across the river. These are the folks who abandoned their homes in fear of the worst, leaving nearly three-fourths of Council Bluffs and the entire East Omaha and Carter Lake, Ia., areas across the river ghostly vacant.

The river level late yesterday passed 29.7 feet. A crest of 31.5 was expected during the night. Flood stage is 19 and the previous record high in 1881 is 24.6.

Peril won't end with the crest's arrival, engineers warned. The long flat top of the crest will last four hours and dike failures could come even after the water has receded.

The St. Joseph, Mo., stockyards became the third to suffer a flood embargo.

One Hostage Released By Jail Rioters

Rahway, N. J. (AP)— Prisoners at the Rahway Reformatory staged a riot in a dormitory wing last night, trapping nine guards. They were attempting to break out through barred windows, Superintendent R. W. Lagay reported.

Trenton, N.J. (AP) — A state prison employe, one of four hostages held by a stubborn band of rioting prisoners, was released last night because of illness.

Deputy Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies F. Lovell Bixby said the convicts, barricaded in the prison print shop, let Oris Robinson out through a window after he apparently suffered a mild heart attack.

Robinson, who has been in charge of the print shop for the past four years and has been a prison employe 22 years, walked out under his own power, Bixby said. He was "well shaken up, but apparently not in serious condition," Bixby added. He had been held hostage for more than 60 hours.

Sixty-nine convicts barricaded themselves in the print shop and have been holding out since last Tuesday, demanding the ouster of Warden William H. Carty and an investigation of the institution.

They sent a note out with Robison, Bixby said, asking for another talk with Sanford Bates, commissioner of institutions and agencies, and Robert R. Hannum representative of a national association interested in prison administration and rehabilitation of convicts.

Phantom Held For Murder

Los Angeles (AP) — Accused "phantom gunman" Evan Charles Thomas yesterday blamed "a strange urge" for five shoot-and-run attacks on women, one fatal.

Veteran sheriff's deputies probed the psychology of the 29-year-old railroad switchman who says he "got a thrill" out of taking pot shots at women.

Thomas was formally charged yesterday with murder and seven counts of assault with a deadly weapon.

Investigators said they believe Thomas' story of prowling with a .22 rifle, regardless of a conflicting ballistics report that slugs recovered in the five shootings were not fired from the same gun. Said Lt. Floyd Rosenberg:

"He showed us exactly where he stood when he says he shot. A couple of the places are the only spots where anyone could have stood for the bullet to hit as it did."

Thomas said his sniping began last August when his wife and two children were visiting her mother. Mrs. Thomas is expecting a third child.

Kreisler Gives Violin To U. S.

Washington, (AP)—One of the world's most famous violins turned up in the Library of Congress yesterday after a long and hectic career that found it in the posession of one of Napoleon's generals, a British pirate, a parson and Fritz Kreisler.

The violin was built in 1773 by Guiseppi (or Joseph) Guarneri Del Gesu. It is worth untold thousands.

Kreisler himself gave the instrument to the library. It is to be used for the advancement of music in this country.

HST Claims He Can Seize Radio Stations, Papers

Washington (AP) — President Truman said yesterday he believes he has constitutional power to seize the nation's newspapers and radio stations if he regarded such a step as necessary to protect the best interest of the country.

At his news conference, the President was asked whether, since he seized the steel industry under his inherent constitutional powers, he thought he could similarly seize the nation's newspapers and radios.

He said yes, if the President has to act to protect what is for the best interest of the country.

Truman Has Kind Words For Harriman

By The Associated Press

The scramble for the Democratic presidential nomination intensified last night as rival factions vied over the front-running candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Highlighting the confusion resulting from the withdrawal of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as a potential "compromise" choice for the Democratic presidential nomination, these were the developments:

President Truman, still disowning any desire to play the role of kingmaker, had kind words at his weekly news conference for the fledgling boom on behalf of his foreign aid chief, W. Averell Harriman.

Truman said he considers Harriman qualified to be president, and called him one of the country's most patriotic and able citizens.

He said too, that he was sorry Governor Stevenson decided not to run.

Asked about Kefauver, the President said he didn't think it was up to him to analyze all the candidates—then said quickly that he is very fond of Kefauver and that Kefauver came to see him before opening his campaign.

Truman also went on record as saying a Southerner could be nominated and elected—if willing to run on the Democratic party platform.

President Quoted As Calling Prominent Columnists Liars

Washington, (AP)—Another of those Truman letters turned up yesterday. In this one, the President says columnists Drew Pearson, Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky and John O'Donnell all are liars.

The letter was made public by James F. Byrnes, governor of South Carolina and former secretary of state, in connection with a magazine article in which Byrnes charges Truman himself with being careless with the truth.

The magazine didn't publish the letter, which was written to Byrnes on White House stationery June 21, 1949.

But Byrnes himself distributed photographic copies to back up his contention that his break with Truman occurred in 1949—and not, as the President has indicated, before Byrnes' resignation as secretary of state two years earlier.

The letter, which brought quick rebuttal from Pearson, says:

"Dear Jim:

"I appreciated very much your note of the 17th enclosing me a copy of the letter to Drew Pearson. Since I never read Mr. Pearson or listen to him I didn't know his statement had appeared. I don't think he ever told the truth intentionally.

"I never read or listen to Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky or John O'Donnell, or any of the liars for the simple season that it just stirs you up for no good purpose. When history is written the facts will speak for themselves.

"It was always customary for the State Department to accuse the White House or having leaks and for the White House to accuse the State Department of having leaks. I don't know which was correct—maybe both.

"Sincerely yours,
"Harry Truman."

Then the President adds in a hand-written postscript:

"Since your Washington & Lee speech I'm sure I know how Caesar felt when he said, 'et tu brute.'"

(This is what Julius Caesar is supposed to have said when he discovered that his old friend Brutus had joined in an assassination plot against him. In Latin it means: "And you, too, Brutus).

Byrnes cites the letter as proof that Truman "became offended" with him for criticizing the administration's domestic policies, in 1949 speech at Virginia's Washington and Lee College, rather than for anything he did or did not do as secretary of state.

New Guard Division To Be Formed

Harrisburg (AP)— Headquarters personnel of the Pennsylvania National Guard were making plans for a new division yesterday to accomodate its men returning from Federal service.

Lt. Gen. Frank A. Weber, commanding officer, said 20,000 former guardsmen will be back from active duty with the armed forces by this time next year.

"We've got to set up a new division for them," he said, "and that is what we're working on now. It's going to be a big job or reorganization."

Weber said some of the troops are coming back already. They are being returned early so there will not be too much of a rush all at once, he said.

As soon as the Army releases the 28th Division from active duty, that division number will again be given to the Pennsylvania National Guard, Weber said.

The 28th, a former component of the PNG, was activated in September of 1950 and sent to Germany for occupation duty 14 months later.

Weber said most of the Pennsylvania guardsmen who went into Federal service will be back with the guard after they are discharged.

Seven Ousted From Staff

Philadelphia (AP) — Five interns, a resident physician and a nurse were fired from the staff of the Philadelphia General Hospital yesterday because they refused to take Pennsylvania's loyalty oath.

City Solicitor Abraham L. Freedman said those dismissed—after a long session of the hospital's board of trustees—are:

Drs. Robert R. Baldwin of Philadelphia; Anna M. Chirico of Jeanette, Pa.; Kenneth J. Eagen of New Haven, Conn.; Frank W. Johnson of suburban Berwyn, and Donald E. Wohlrabe, of Philadelphia, the interns; Dr. Julina Gylfe, of Irwin, Ill., a junior resident physician and nurse Marie S. Fitzgerald of Philadelphia.

George R. Clark, a member of the hospital board, emphasized that the dismissals were quoted "purely" because the seven had failed to take the loyalty oath required under Pennsylvania law of all public employes.

Hits Extra-Pay Plan

Washington (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill) blasted the Pentagon's system of extra hazard pay for some military men yesterday, saying it places a "price tag" on morale of fighting men and creates a super-elite."

Nine School Districts Hold Joint Dinner

The annual spring dinner meeting of school districts which send students to the East Stroudsburg schools was held last night at 6:30 at the Junior High building.

Home economics students of the Junior High School, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Thiesen served the dinner which was attended by school board members from nine districts.

Directors from Smithfield, Middle Smithfield, Price and Stroud Townships in Monroe County; Porter and Lehman in Pike; Portland borough and Upper and Lower Mount Bethel in Northampton County were invited to attend the meeting.

Plans for the forthcoming school year, including changes in services offered by the East Borough school system, were listed prominently on the agenda of discussion.

A proposed calendar for the year was presented for adoption by the representatives present at the meeting.

1,000 Trees Planted On ESHS Land

The fourth annual Arbor Day program, sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, was held yesterday afternoon at the High School Stadium.

Highlight of the program was planting of a thousand red and Scotch pine trees on the high school grounds adjoining the athletic field.

As a result of these programs some 4,000 trees have been planted. Conservation is one of the interests of the Exchange Club.

Music was furnished by the school band under direction of Clement Wiedinmyer. Rev. Harold C. Eaton gave the invocation. Roger Dunning, club president, talked briefly on conservation, and an oration on the subject was given by Barbara Shaffer, a student of the high school.

The planting was done by students of the technical course, under direction of Charles Schaller, Shop instructor.

Biology Show Opens At High School

East Stroudsburg High School's annual biology exhibit is now on display in the school library.

Each sophomore student presents a project for exhibition in the collection which must deal with some general phase of biology.

The exhibits may consist of any of the following models: animal and plant models and classifications; conservation; skeletons; animal mazes; animal and plant dissections; drawings of plant or animal life; growth of plants under various conditions or an experiment in heredity using fruit flies.

Also included for display in a single unit of taxidermy. Some students collected spices as a part of their project.

Officials charged with the responsibility of judging the exhibit are Harold Lee, Walter Stem and Lewis Hastie, biology instructor at the school.

Prize-winning entries will be announced tomorrow. Awards are made on the basis of first, second and third prizes and an honorable mention.

A grand prize for the best general entry in the show is also awarded.

Entries are being judged on the basis of their story-telling value, the amount of work involved and neatness.

The exhibit is open to the general public and will remain open until Tuesday, April 22.

White Robin Pays Visit To Smith Home

Birds evidently have their politics the same as people, according to Chief County Assessor George Smith.

Near his East Stroudsburg RD1 home a few days ago, Smith saw the evidence.

The robins had arrived in force and were busy scrounging for unturned worms. Most were ordinary rusty-breasted humdrum work-a-day robins, but one was evidently a refugee from some current Washington, D. C. ruckus.

It appeared to be whitewashed.

It was snowy from stem to feathery stern. Smith said he's sure it was a robin because it "hollered" like one — which is also a habit of people or birds in the public eye.

On the other hand, the critter may have been merely an innocent albino. Smith has an eye for albinos. In past years he's spotted an all-white doe, a buck and a sparrow.

Judge Davis Looks Ahead To Long Day

President Judge Fred W. Davis will have a long day of it at the courthouse Tuesday.

The law sets the judge's hours for the election day—and they run from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., minimum. The law also states when the judge will have a chance to eat; he may recess from noon to 2 p. m., and 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., then it's back to work.

Purpose of the law is to have judicial authority available throughout the Primary Election period so that any election disputes arising may be promptly settled.

The court will be open for regular business as well as election matters, and it is expected that some routine matters may be cleaned up during the day-long session.

Commissioners said courthouse business offices will carry on as usual Tuesday.

Primary Thought

In five days, Pennsylvania voters will go to the polls in primary elections which are among the most interesting in years.

The outlook is for a big turnout of voters. And the principal interest will be in the preference voting on candidates for presidential nominations and in elections of delegates to the nominating conventions.

We hope there is a big turnout, and that each eligible voter will make every effort to exercise his franchise in this first round of the presidential election.

But there are other important contests at stake, overshadowed by the presidential primaries but nevertheless important to each voter.

Monroe County Republicans and Democrats will nominate their candidate for a seat in the State House of Representatives.

The successful candidate in November will sit in next year's session of the State Legislature. And next year's session of the Legislature will have some ticklish things to decide.

There's sure to be another attempt next year to put over a state income tax, or some other "broad-based tax"—meaning a tax that costs everybody money.

This could be avoided if a determined effort were made in the Legislature to cut down state spending, eliminate waste and get the taxpayer his dollar's worth.

Pork Barrel Pickled

In passing the rivers and harbors flood-control appropriation for the Army Engineers the other day, the House of Representatives chalked up a remarkable achievement.

It defeated 24 different amendments, each offered by individual congressmen and proposing to tack onto the bill funds for projects in their own districts.

This is log-rolling in reverse. The Appropriations Committee had cut $200 millions from the bill—nearly 30 per cent. The House made that stick.

That doesn't mean the ork barrel is permanently pickled. There is still the Senate. But if every senator will keep in mind that the Truman budget, as submitted to Congress, calls for a $14-billion deficit, it should encourage him to follow the pattern set by the House.

The Rampaging Missouri

The disastrous flood rampaging over Middle West states crossed by the Missouri River brings into a sharp focus for the second time within a year the imperative need for flood control along the Missouri-Mississippi system.

It was only a year ago that a calamitous flood raged through the Kansas City territory, bringing heartaches to thousands who saw their homes and savings washed away, and property loss estimated at more than $800 million.

As this is written, whole towns have been depopulated by the flood, termed the worst in 71 years. More than 75,000 persons have been made homeless and millions of acres of rich farmland are inundated. Business and residential areas are under water, and more rain is adding to the woes of man's efforts to stem the rising tide of the flood waters.

The cost of the two disastrous floods within a year is in itself enough to have financed the type of flood control that would contain the rampaging rivers. The cost in heartaches to those thousands made homeless can not be measured in dollars. It is in the tradition of American ideals that something should be done to prevent another such disaster in this vital industrial and farm area. It must be met on a scale that will end the menace forever.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

So, We Are Liars!

On June 21, 1949, President Harry Truman wrote to his former Secretary of State, James Byrnes, as follows:

"Dear Jim:

"I appreciated very much your note of the 17th, enclosing me a copy of the letter to Drew Pearson. Since I never read Mr. Pearson or listen to him I didn't know his statement had appeared. I don't think he ever told the truth intentionally.

"I never read or listen to Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky or John O'Donnell, or any of the liars for the simple reason that it just stirs you up for no good purpose. When history is written the facts will speak for themselves.

"It was always customary for the State Department to accuse the White House of having leaks and for the White House to accuse the State Department of having leaks. I don't know which was correct—maybe both.

"Sincerely yours,

"s/ Harry Truman"

I had not known until this morning, when I write of this, that the President held me in such esteem. I wonder how, if he never read or listened to me, he knows that I am a liar. Also, it would be interesting to have a bill of particulars—precisely what did I write in 1949 that bothered the President so much?

I do not know how Pegler or Winchell or O'Donnell feels about it, but I am pleased that Harry Truman spelled my name correctly. It is a difficult name. Unless a person sees my kind of a name often, he does not readily remember it and either calls me by the name of a more famous aviation engineer or an even more famous conductor. Thanks for the compliment, Mr. President!

I looked up my records to discover what I might have written on June 20 or June 21, 1949 to call me to the President's attention. On June 20, I wrote an article on Whittaker Chambers, in which I called attention to the probability of Alger Hiss's guilt.

You may recall that President Truman called the charges against Alger Hiss a red herring, but I had already then for 10 years been writing about the dangers of the Harold Ware Cell in Washington to which Hiss belonged. Admittedly, I wrote with caution because as the Administration was protecting its Communists, I had to avoid libel.

On the record, Alger Hiss was convicted after investigation by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Grand Jury proceedings and two public trials. Again, on the record, Harry Truman talked nonsense when he referred to the Hiss matter as a red herring.

As regards the article of June 21, 1949, I wrote on a reader's judgment that Senator Hickenlooper was smearing Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lilienthal. I said:

". . . Congress may sometimes hit out blindly in the course of an inquiry and hurt an innocent person. On balance, this evil has been trifling, except for the particular individual, compared with the great good done by Congressional committees."

On the record, Mr. Truman has fought with every Congress, the 79th, the 80th, the 81st, and the 82nd, since he has been President. He apparently assumes that the President is the leader of Congress and that that body must obey his wishes and whims.

He regards himself as the smartest man that ever lived, except General George Marshall, who is the greatest American that ever lived. I do not know how he places Dean Acheson in relationship to himself and George Marshall.

In this same letter that Harry Truman wrote to James Byrnes, he added a postscript in his own hand. Concerning this postscript, Secretary Byrnes writes in his article in "Collier's" magazine. The postscript reads:

"Since your Washington & Lee speech I'm sure I know how Caesar felt when he said 'Et tu Brute.'"

Byrnes replied that he was no Brutus and that Truman was no Caesar, which you can take any way you like. Brutus stabbed Caesar in the back, an event which gave Shakespeare a chance to write a great play and Mark Anthony a wonderful speech that schoolboys used to learn by heart, before progressive education abolished memory.

Harry Truman, who boasts a phenomenal knowledge of history, may recall what happened to Rome under Caesar's successors—It ceased to be a republic and went slowly to hell.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A Scottish golfer stepped up to the first tee, and sliced his ball so badly that it crashed through a window of the clubhouse way off to the right. He rushed to retrieve it, and found a half dozen fellow members in a dither of excitement. "Darnest ricochet in the history of St. Albans," marveled one. "After that ball broke the window, it bounced off Mrs. McIntosh's head, knocked over MacTavish's whiskey and soda, bounced through another window, and broke the rector's windshield."

"Never mind all the chatter," said the golfer severely. "Where is my ball now?"

Somebody asked the great night-club favorite, Joe E. Lewis, "Have you any idea of what happened to that big game hunter who used to swagger around the Copacabana when he was in town?" "He's dead, poor chap," mourned Lewis. "Something he disagreed with ate him."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, —I am astounded at the silence of the Baltimore Bugle, Owen Lattimore who hasn't opened his mouth since former Ambassador William C. Bullitt made a clown of him in testimony before the McCarran Internal Security Subcommmittee of the Senate.

Lattimore is getting more and more like the State Department's ambassador at large, Philip C. Jessup. Both of them used to pontificate at every opportunity, and without even being asked, about what this country should do in Asia. If anyone ever criticized their fuzzy yammering, a resounding reply in double talk always followed instantaneously. Now, however, both are retiring behind long lapses of silence. And I think I know the reason why.

Bullitt was our ambassador in Moscow, you remember, when the Baltimore Bugle and assorted Communists from this country were licking Kremlin boots while figuring out a way to sell Asia down the river of Soviet domination.

One of the favorite methods of camouflaging the cooperation of U. S. Reds with the Kremlin was via the institution of Pacific relations. Senator Pat McCarran's subcommittee, with chief counsel Robert Morris in charge of the dissection, has just completed showing up the IPR for what it really was—a goofy collection of alleged scholars controlled by Communists, near-Communists and assorted other Kremlin stooges. Lattimore and Jessup were high moguls in this international rat trap.

When the Bugle blew into Moscow in 1936, he had a chat with Bullitt. The ex-ambassador is made of somewhat different fiber from a lot of other former and present State Department officials. He had heard the same sound the Baltimore Bugle was blowing, many times before—and it was right out of a Kremlin window.

Lattimore wanted to overlook the execution of some three or four hundred loyal Chinese in outer Mongolia by the Russian secret police. He wanted the United States to recognize that territory's "independence" from China, to give it diplomatic recogition as a free state entitled to membership in the League of Nations.

Bullitt says he told Lattimore that the Russians ran outer Mongolia, and that if Lattimore thought otherwise he was either ignorant or "deliberately attempting to assist in the spread of Communist authority throughout Asia."

There is more to the story which somehow failed to get in the regular press accounts of Bullitt's testimony. Bullitt tangled with the Baltimore Bugle once more. It was on a radio program in 1948, when the Chinese Nationalist troops were begging for U. S. equipment because the Chinese Reds, under Russian direction and with supplies from the Russians, had Chiang Kai-Shek's troops set up for the kill. We had helped create the situation by refusing to give arms to the Nationalists.

Lattimore drummed up some smart talk about how the Chinese Communist troops in Manchuria were equipping theselves with American arms abandoned by cowardly Nationalist troops. This went over the air waves to several million Americans who are sympathetic to the Chinese but deplore cowardice wherever they find it.

Lattimore was spewing straight Communist propaganda when he made his remark. Bullitt pointed out that there were no Chinese Communist troops in Manchuria at the time and later, when they did get there, they were sent in by the Russians, who had equipped them with captured Japanese arms and ammunition.

I am less charitable towards the Baltimore Bugle than Bullitt was. He testified that he had told Lattimore on the radio:

"'You are the head of a school on International Relations. You have no right to evade an answer to your extraordinary statement.'" Bullitt then went on: "I am led to conclude that Mr. Lattimore is once more behaving either as a man who was interested in promoting the conquest of the Far East by the Communists, or as I said before, that he was simply a charlatan who knew nothing about the subjects on which he took positions and that he had no business to be at the head of a school on International Relations of a distinguished university."

Lattimore was, and is, head of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, and he still is required White House and State Department reading on topics dealing with Asia.

Bullitt's disgust was monumental after a few years of dealing with people like the Baltimore Bugle. He quit. Lattimore and the boys stayed around, however, and look where China is today.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

Fall River, Mass. — You sit there, a displaced and uneasy New Yorker, in the old and comfortable courthouse, glassily watching the courtroom attendants drifting in and out of secret doors with enigmatic smiles on their faces, and you ask yourself: what am I doing here, anyway?

Well, what you are doing is simple. On the 14th day of August in 1949, sunburned and happy, you came rolling happily along Route 177 just outside this hungry and depression - steamrollered city, on your way home from a week at the Cape.

It was 8:30 a. m. and only one item marred the bright and sunny morning. This was a 1941 sedan which engaged you in combat at a blind intersection and left your coupe wounded and dying in the road.

So here you are, opening the old wounds, trying to remember the nightmare of the collision. You have covered a thousand trials by jury. Some of them bored you and others have excited you. Now you are in one yourself. Your first.

What will it be like, standing up there in the witness box—for this is New England, and sitting witnesses likely are considered soft and effete—and trying desperately to remember the truth, as it took place that August morning? Soon you will find out.

The other driver is called first. She turns out to be a registered nurse. You hardly remember her, and she tells her story easily and with apparent truth under the prodding of both attorneys. Then, suddenly, she announces with slightly downcast eyes that you (you flinch) were traveling at an enormous rate of speed. This is not as you remember it. Look, you want to get up and say, the thing couldn't do more than 40. This is enormous?

Then you lean back in the cane chair and relax and meditate on New York, hundreds of miles away, whirling and raffish and noisy, and the peace of this polished, airy old courtroom, where the word seems to be—what's the hurry?

You eye the jury. They are obviously conscientious and interested as the nurse begins her tale, but as the minutes wear on, they seem a little bored. They have been at their job five weeks and this is their final case. Their work waits for them. They must be chafing to get back to their desks, their grease pits, their machines.

You are called, finally — you have worn a blue suit and somber tie, so nobody can rear up and call you a flashy New Yorker—and your attorney leads you carefully through your story. You preen a little as you stand there, and then the defense attorney steps up, gray and worried-looking.

Promptly he asks you frightening, ominous things like how fast and how far and how many feet and what rate of speed. This man must know you almost failed algebra.

He keeps at you like a terrier after a rat, a reasonably accurate simile, and when he allows you finally to step down, there is a satisfied air about him as if he has demolished a tray full of dishes with one pull of the rug.

Back in your chair, you glumly watch the lady who had been in the car with you tell her story. You brighten a little, as she handles the attorney candidly and easily, telling the truth so easily that he seems nonplussed.

The jurors try to pay attention but one seems ready to fall asleep. The judge yawns, opens a book, looks out the window. He has been 30 years in Boston, and life in a small city like this seems to have him uncomfortable and bored.

The summations come, finally, late in the afternoon. Your attorney faces the jury. "It's a warming thing," he says expansively, "to have nice, decent people like this come in from New York to seek justice." He looks down at you a little darkly. "Even," he adds wistfully, "if they are a bit honestly stupid in their testimony." Well, you say to yourself. Well. So he's right. Well, anyway.

Then it is 4 p. m. and the judge tells the jury he'll charge them tomorrow. An attendant rises and ends the session with a wailing "And God save—" —you gulp a little and look at him, startled—"the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

You get up and leave, bound for New York and with only the faint memories of a spring day in the country.

TRIP TO MOON MAY COME SOONER THAN WE THINK

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

The men in the armed forces should show more respect to women in uniform, a special Defense Advisory Committee on Women has urged upon the Defense Department.

In a special report to Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, Assistant Defense Secretary the committee complained that the men don't show enough respect to their female colleagues.

"The committee strongly urges, "says the report," that men in the services be given orientation to the fact that they will work with women in uniform who merit their respect and courtesy as qualified members of the defense team."

A New York woman complained to me that men never give up their seats to her any more.

Ten or fifteen years ago, she said, a man would never keep his seat when a woman was standing.

To rise for a woman was as natural for a man as to tip his hat to her.

"I wonder why it is so," she mused. "Have men lost their manners?"

"No," I said to the woman, "it isn't that men have lost their manners. It is that women have lost their feminity."

With all due respect to them, I honestly believe that women are the queerest creations of nature in the whole wide world.

On the one hand, they want all the rights and prerogatives of men.

On the other, they want all the privileges and courtesies that are supposed to be the old-fashioned woman's.

Unfortunately — or fortunately—it doesn't quite work that way.

There used to be a time when a man would kiss a woman's hand.

But in those days a woman would hold a little lace handkerchief or a rose in her dainty hands.

But one doesn't kiss the hand that holds a sledge hammer, a shovel or a stenographer's notebook.

The woman who wields a cocktail glass or a cigarette with the best of men cannot expect the same treatment from a man that her weaker and daintier sister used to get.

The woman who can cuss with the best of men and tell just as off-color stories cannot expect to have a man handle her with plush-lined kid gloves.

Women want to be men's partners—but they would like to be "limited partners."

They want to eat their cake and have it, too.

Personally—and I think most men share my feelings in that respect—I am a little afraid of there "equal rights" women.

Maybe it's because I have a sneaking suspicion that women are just as smart or a bit smarter than we are.

In the old days we could be condescending to our women. We used to like to make them believe that we could do lots of things they could not do.

We used to come home nights and tell the "little woman" what a tough day we had at the office. We used to play the part of the "tired businessman."

Now they have got wise to us. They have found out that a day at the office is not nearly as tiring as a day at the kitchen sink.

They have discovered that it is just as pleasant to play "tired business woman' 'as "tired business man."

Let us hope the day will never come when a woman gets up to give her seat to a man.

If the steel made in the world in 1950 had been divided equally among the inhabitants of the earth, each person would have received about 173 pounds.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Robin Hood is one of those characters you'd think even the movies would have tired of by now. But no. And his resurrector this time is Walt Disney.

Walt, who made his name with animated pen and ink, has restored Robin with live actors, the way he handled "Treasure Island." It's at least the sixth screen treatment of the Sherwood Forest bandit-hero and his merrie men, and it leaves little to be desired.

Filmed in England, in handsome color and what are claimed to be "the storied haunts" of Robin and his archers, "The Story of Robin Hood" is well cast.

Robin is played by Richard Todd, the Irish actor whom Americans will remember in two Hollywood movies, "The Hasty Heart" and "Lightning Strikes Twice." In the role of Maid Marian, sweetheart of the outlaw-patriot, is pert and beautiful Joan Rice. The 22-year-old brunette, a former London waitress, had previous parts in two British films.

Other important roles are played by Peter Finch as the sheriff of Nottingham, James Hayter as Friar Tuck, James Robertson Justice as Little John, and Martita Hunt as Queen Eleanor. Allan-a-Dale, the roving minstrel, is played and sung by Elton Hayes, a British radio singer.

Robin got his screen start in 1912, when Alec B. Francis played the role. Next came Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., in 1922; Errol Flynn in "The Adventures of Robin Hood", 1938; Cornel Wilde, "Bandit of Sherwood Forest," 1946, and John Derek, "Rogues of Sherwood Forest," 1950. Folks who feel Robin's adventures happened long ago and far away probably will decide it's time the old boy had a rest.

"Denver & Rio Grande" is Edmond O'Brien and Sterling Hayden building rival railroads thru beautifully rugged Rockies in Technicolor. O'Brien works for Dean Jagger, the D. & R. G.'s retired Army-general boss. Hayden and Lyle Bettger block them with dynamite, robbery, and finally a head-on collision of trains.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Join Now!

We have delayed it until today, thinking that television's presentation of the Easter Parade was something that really couldn't have happened, and was just a bad dream, but we now announce the formation of a greatly needed organization, a National Association Against the Debasement of the Easter Spirit by the Free Plug Seekers' Guild. It will be dedicated to the suppression of midway, clambake and carnival routines for business promotions and amusement-world aggrandizements on holy days. Television did a most impressive job in telecasting, in all their majesty, the deeply moving Easter services in numerous churches. But its quick and amazing switch to street scenes blatantly exploiting characters of the trade marts, nightclubs, music halls, etc., made millions feel queasy. The cries of "Is there no limit?" are still being heard four days later.

Ham and eggs have long been an Easter dish, but never has so much ham been distributed by so many "eggs" as during the Fifth Avenue parade. The rush to get into the act and switch the mood from holiness to commercialism, from spiritual rededication to a sales pitch, and from an empty tomb at dawn to combination sales - counter, theatrical agency and bandwagon had to be seen to be believed. The heart-breaking story of the Man who died on a cross to glorify self-sacrifice and humility had hardly ceased before the leap was made by video to the side of the unabashed self-advertisers whose slogan is ever "Get yourself into this publicity rodeo or bust!" One moment countless American homes were spellbound by the wondrous music of organs and vested choirs and the unparalleled beauty of the Easter service dedicated to a Savior stripped and paraded in a crown of thorns . . . the next moment the audience was knee-deep in an orgy of close-ups of curious people airily describing their wealth of smart attire, up to and including the jewels! And getting in a plug helpful to their cash registers and careers!

We are not belittling the annual Easter style parade. We haven't missed one in years. They can be wonderful and have been until 1952 when the flashes of the paraders were outnumbered—and how!—by commercial-covered close-ups tooting their own horns before the majestic music from church, cathedral and parish house had died away. The switch from an altar of God to the altar of the hucksters was incredible. Only when a little child was caught by the video camera did one see a face that seemed to sense something a little revolting and forbidden. The kiddies appeared to know it was Easter and that they had just come from the houses of God.

There's real vaudeville at the Palace this week, but what can Betty Hutton do for an encore, a flagpole sitting act atop the Chrysler tower? . . . Betty is a combination of Eva Tanguay, the Four Marx Brothers, the Treadmill Chariot Race from Ben Hur, Sharkey the Seal and Daredevil DiMario, the man who used to ride around the inside of a wire cage on a flaming motorcycle . . . Clem McCarthy gets a banquet tossed in his honor next week, and it's about time, say we . . . Clem is the only race-track announcer who can describe Paul Revere's ride inch by inch . . . The TV freeze has been lifted but Ima Dodo complains that it's still hard for her to find many hot programs. . . . We went trout fishing on opening day but merely to harden ourselves for easier survival in the daily subway crowds . . . Johnny Pulco, at the Palace with Borrah Minevich's Rascals, has at last come into his own as one of the great pantomimists of all time . . . The man who draws those caricatures of The Man of The Week on video must be drawing two other fellows . . . How about a Washington cabinet officer to be known as Secretary of Seizes? . . . Remember away back when a man could say he was in business for himself and be POSITIVE?

State Approves Preliminary Plans For Eldred Twp. School

Consolidation Proposal Wins Official Okay

The Eldred Township school district project to provide an elementary school with four classrooms and an all-purpose room at an approximate cost of $125,000 was advanced during a conference in Harrisburg this week by school officials.

Conferences were held with satisfactory results at the office of Rex Wrye, administrative assistant in Department of Public Instruction and with the department's architects.

Preliminary plans prepared by Rinker & Kiefer, Stroudsburg architects were approved.

Eldred school district now operates with four small school buildings. The proposed new structure will bring all students in a consolidated, modern elementary school system.

Mr. Rinker, the architect and Attorney F. J. Mervine, solicitor for the school district, accompanied these school officials.

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools; Walter Sebring, assistant superintendent; Arlington Smith, district secretary; Charles Allen Frantz, board vice president, Wilson Hawk and Cloyd Buck, board members.

Under regulations of the Department of Public Instruction, if the project bid is within the amount approved in current estimates, the State would grant about 60 per cent of the cost with the district providing about 40 per cent.

Once the building is placed in use, the district would enter into a rental agreement to amortize the grant from the State School Authority.

Junior High Stages Fair

East Stroudsburg Junior High School is this week staging a "school fair" to demonstrate the accomplishments of its pupils during the past year.

Included in the exhibition are samples of work done in classroom research, study groups and special classes at the school.

The fair is open to the general public and will be held tonight at the school building.

Mrs. Sarah Kline Booth, Who Helped Found Hospital, Dies At 88 In East Borough

Mrs. Sarah A. Kline Booth, 88, organizer of the General Hospital Auxiliary, its first president and one of the founders of that institution, died at 9:30 a. m., yesterday in her home, 91 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg.

She was the widow of James W. Booth, founder of International Boiler Works. In ill health for the past few years, Mrs. Booth's condition had become progressively more grave during the last eight months.

Mrs. Sarah Booth

Born in Reading, Pa., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reno Kline, Mrs. Booth came to East Stroudsburg with her husband in 1886 and resided there the remainder of her life.

She became interested in behalf of the General Hospital along with other East Stroudsburg citizens. Her organizing abilities soon produced a very potent auxiliary of women who in 1915 embarked on a campaign which produced most of the supporting funds for the institution.

Mrs. Booth participated in organization of the hospital when it was established in a building located on the site now occupied by the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Her devotion to the hospital cause had a direct bearing on its expansion and removal to larger quarters on East Brown St. and all of its subsequent building programs, including the most recent $1,500,000 expansion.

She was a charter member of the board of directors and even when ill health prevented constant attendance, she continued to exercise great influence in the affairs of the institution. She was an honorary member of the board at the time of her death.

Only recently the various auxiliaries defrayed costs of having a large portrait done of Mrs. Booth by Robert Logan, artist. It was placed in the director's room of the institution.

Mrs. Booth was also a charter member of the Grace Lutheran Church and for years was active in Republican political circles in Monroe County.

Survivors are one son, Chestr Booth, Washington, D. C.; two grandsons, James E. Booth, Lansdowne, Pa., Sherwood K. Booth, Arlington, Va.; a granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Hardin, Falls Church, Va.; seven great grandchildren and a half brother, Rev. J. R. Kline, Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Lutheran Church, will conduct services. Interment will be made in the family crypt in the Stroudsburg Mausoleum, Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Lanterman funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p. m.

Music Event Is Scheduled At Tamiment

A chamber music festival has been scheduled for June 19 through 22 at Tamiment, a resort located near Bushkill in Pike County.

It is the first time such a summer music festival has been arranged for the Pocono Mountain area, though such festivals are familiar to music lovers who make annual pilgrimages to the Berkshires, Catskills, Smokies or White Mountains.

Playing at the Tamiment festival will be the Curtis String Quartet, the New Chamber Music Orchestra of Philadelphia, Pianist Vladimir Sokoloff and other artists.

Cast Chosen For Comedy

Oliver Goldsmith's classic comedy "She Stoops To Conquer" will be presented by Mask and Zany and Alpha Psi Omega at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium at 8 p. m. April 24 and 25.

The play, one of the most popular in repertory theaters throughout the English-speaking world, revolves around a sedate British family, the Hardcastles.

Members of the cast, crews and the director, Katherine B. MacFarland, head of the college speech department, are currently preparing for final dress rehearsals before pronouncing the production a finished one.

Included in the cast are Patricia Cottrell, Florence Demers, Kathleen Lucious, Alica Azarian, John Van Yush, Robert Boltz, Don Harding, John Sebring and Larry Kuck.

Body Of Vet To Arrive Here Tuesday

Vacation Bureau Directors Complete Arrangements For Third Annual Hotel Show

Directors of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau held their final meeting of the business year last night in the Penn-Stroud Hotel to perfect plans for the third annual hotel show and the annual meeting of the Vacation Bureau Aprff 29 and 30 at Pocono Manor. Election of directors for the new year is now in progress through secret mail ballots.

Hostesses under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elvira Carlton will greet and guide the visitors to the hotel show. The show has now grown to be the largest in Pennsylvania, with 107 booths displaying wares, services and equipment of the purveyors and allied tradesmen who team up with resort and hotel operators to supply the needs and comforts of vacationers.

New officers of the bureau will be announced Wednesday, April 30 after the organization meeting at 11 a. m.

Featured speaker for the show will be R. E. S. Deichler, vice president for sales of American Airlines and former associate of John M. Crandall, of the Manor.

The show is co-sponsored by Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Association. Record attendance is expected at both dinner meetings, the NPRA on Tuesday, April 29, and Vacation Bureau on April 30.

Area Visitor Writes Song Of Poconos

Charles Hofmann, who lives in Baltimore, Md., took a trip to the Poconos a year ago. He went home with visions which he somehow managed to reduce to melody and rhyme.

The song shows that nature's awesome grandeur has inspired songsters to some of their most ethereal flights of poetry.

It runs in part:

"Clickety-clack, Woo! Woo! Clickety-clack, Woo! Woo! Hey, Hey—This train ride ain't to Chatanooga—it won't go—thru Santa Fe, But this train ride—a lotta' good'll do ya—

"See the beauty of the U. S. A. —See the Poconos pokin' their nose—Out of the Pennsylvania sky —Hear the Water Gap open its trap, and say 'How Ya Neighbor Hi' . . ."

In a letter this week, Hofmann said that the song has not yet become a national success.

State FTA Convention Opens Today

MRS. WILDA FREEBERN Faust (above), national secretary of the Future Teachers of America, will address the assembly of Pennsylvania chapters at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College this afternoon. She served as high school teacher and elementary school principal in Miami, Fla.

Over 200 of Pennsylvania's future Teachers of America, representing delegates of 30 chapters from both high schools and colleges, will converge on East Stroudsburg today for their fourth annual conclave.

Scheduled to begin at noon with registration, activities will occur at State Teachers College auditorium with the general session slated to open at 2 p.m. Theme of the convention is "Firm Foundation in an Unsettled World."

Mrs. Wilda Freebern Faust, national secretary of Future Teachers of America, will be the principal speaker at the parley and is listed to speak at 2:45. Ernest Berry Jr., of Cheyney State Teachers College, president of the PFTA will preside. Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, president of the local college and James Frawley, president of the Thaddeus Stevens Chapter, Future Teachers of America, will deliver greetings. Special music will be provided by the glee club of the East Borough college, under the direction of Dr. Donald Corson.

The college dining hall will be the scene of a tea at 3:45, followed by a tour of the campus.

Tonight at 6:30 a dinner meeting will be held at Penn-Stroud Hotel. Clyde R. Uhler, chairman of the committee on professional activities in teacher education institutions, will speak and John M. Lumley, vice president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will be the main speaker. Johnny Alteri's orchestra will provide music for dancing beginning at 8:30.

Tomorrow sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and the business meeting, with election of officers listed, will begin at 10:50 a.m. Dr. Leslie P. Hill, past president of Cheyney State Teachers College will address the final assembly at 11:30 a.m.

Committee personnel who arranged for the convention, include Frawley, general chairman, assisted by Joan Blank, Joan Bender and Emily Chubb. Also, Salvatore DeFede and Marcie Kennedy, co-chairmen of the housing committee; Herman Bastianelli, dinner ticket; Rosemarie Eichorn, banquet and dance; Lloyd Hahn, auditorium; Joan Givens, social; George Spillane, information and Jane Moffet, election. Dr. Nathan Berry, president; Joan Bender, East Stroudsburg, first vice president; Irving Rothman, Pittsburgh, second vice president; Joan Milius, Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh; Margaret Reismeier, Penn State; Herbert Jackson, Reading High School and Ronald Beckett, Slippery Rock State Teachers College, members at large.

The Janissaries, forming the standing army of Turkey from 1300 to 1826, were recruited among Christian children and trained in the Moslem faith.

Mrs. Russell Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stout and family, McMichaels.

Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Graeber. Mrs. Graeber has been ill.

During the Easter morning service at the Pocono Union Church, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Baumann were received as new members by Rev. Spangenberg.

Anthems by the choir were "The Holy City" and "He Lives, the King."

The children's Easter egg hunt was held on Monday afternoon. In spite of inclement weather a large number of children attended. Anna Mae Hartshorn received the first prize for finding the most eggs and "Butchie" Tucker received a prize for the least number of eggs discovered.

Merchandise Exhibits On Display

Several hundreds persons looked over the exhibit booths of 23 merchants and business houses last night at the Spring merchandise exhibit at the American Legion auditorium in East Stroudsburg.

The Legion sponsors said they expect the affair to become an annual one.

Visitors to the show may get ideas on novel gifts, Spring house redecorating, repainting and remodeling or home entertainment, a Legion sponsor said.

The exhibit will be open tonight and tomorrow from 6:30 to 10:30 p. m., and tomorrow from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. and at night from 6:30 to 10 p. m.

Tomorrow night members of the Youth Center orchestra will play at the show. The Legion Auxiliary operates a coffee and snack bar in the auditorium.

Exhibit chairman is Buck Rowe. Door prizes will be awarded at 9 and 10 p. m., and visitors must be present to win.

Barrett Class Visits Bank

A group of commercial students of Barrett High School this week got a preview of modern banking, including actual stand-by views, instructions and study on banking operations at Stroudsburg Security Trust Co.

Every department was covered by the group, including a visit inside the bank vault.

Mount Pocono

Mrs. L. T. Powers

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hartman included David and Sharon Hartman, Canadensis; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartman, Bartonsville and Mrs. Gertrude Harmon, Stroudsburg. David Hartman celebrated his third birthday while visiting his grandparents.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Ida Moore, Linden, sister of Mrs. Laura Hughes. Mrs. Moore had spent the past few summers with her sister here.

Pfc. William E. Kreger

Pfc. Kreger Takes Part In Maneuvers

Gilbert—Pfc. William E. Kreger, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kreger of this place currently is on maneuvers at Fort Hood, Texas.

Recently he visited Cpl. and Mrs. Kenneth Kunkle, formerly of Effort who now reside in Texas. Pfc. Kreger's wife, the former Emma Weiss, is residing in Ozark, Ala., near Camp Rucker where Pfc. Kreger is stationed.

DPA Cracks Down On Delinquents

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Department of Public Assistance is extending a drive to force deserting husbands and fathers to pay support for their dependents.

Deputy Secretary Robert P. Wray said Robert L. Kunsig, deputy attorney general, has been assigned by the State Justice Department to work with local courts, district attorneys, and county public assistance boards in carrying out the crackdown.

Locating deserting husbands and fathers, Wray said, is always a problem, since many of them leave Pennsylvania. The Commonwealth has a new weapon here, however, for the 1951 Legislature approved a law authorizing Pennsylvania to cooperate with other states in attempts to locate the delinquents and force them to pay.

Students Of Pocono School To Present Concert Tonight

Tannersville—The Pocono Township School music department tonight presents its second annual Spring concert under the direction of Carmen Cavuto.

The school band, chorus and fourth grade flutophone class will participate in the concert with members of the band; also contributing instrumental solos.

The school choral group will open the concert with a tune from the musical "Best Foot Forward" by Hugh Martin and Ralph Blaine —"Buckle Down, Winsocki".

Cole Porter's "In The Still Of The Night" occupies the number two position on the program followed by the popular Rodgers and Hammerstein composition from "Oklahoma"—"Oh, What A Beautiful Morning".

The final choral selections will be "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise".

John Phillip Sousa's "The Crusader" march opens the instrumental section of the concert, followed by "In the Cathedral" by Gabriel Pierne.

"Mattinata" by Leoncavallo serves as the saxophone solo offering by Ann Frailey. A march, "Sharpshooters", presents a contrasting mood with the entire band participating.

Paul Yoder's musical version of the Cinderella story — "Glass Slipper"—will be number five on the program. Harriet Learn will be heard in a solo piano version of David Raksin's "Laura".

A novelty sketch — "Three Bears"—will be narrated by Steve Van DeWater.

Four other musical numbers, including two march tunes, will conclude the program.

Lancaster Cattle

Lancaster (AP)—Cattle 439, local fed steers closed 50 cents lower than Monday market. Calves 14, good grades one dollar lower. Hogs 252, yards well cleared with handyweights bringing $18.25. Sheep 61, lambs scarce and steady.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Happy Fireman Acclaims Vaylo

Daylight Found Me Completely Worn Out

Mr. Page Garland, Fire Captain of Hampton, New Hampshire writes—My duties as Fire Captain are performed at all hours of the day and night, and are a terrific tax on my system. I had no appetite, started to lose weight and sleep was next to impossible. My nerves were just plain ragged.

I was told that I had a vitamin and mineral deficiency. I tried many things without success until a druggist friend suggested VAYLO.

I had read about B12 in Reader's Digest, so started VAYLO and within a short time I felt like my old self. Even the boys at the Fire House noticed the improvement in my condition.

VAYLO has worked wonders for men and I would not be without it for the world. I want to tell everyone about it.

It certainly is the one formula that lives up to all it claims.

Spring Flowers Dominate Garden Club Salad Luncheon

The April salad bowl luncheon of the Monroe County Garden Club held yesterday at the YMCA carried Spring in its program, decorations and exhibits, as Norman Fischer, B. A., botanist at the Bowman's Hill Wild Flower Preserve spoke on the plants and trails there and showed a film of the preserves. This year's first flower to blossom, he said, was the Quaker ladies, blooming on February 20.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, who introduced him, in turn presented Mr. Fischer with a basket of wild plant material she had arranged and which will be transplanted on the Poconos Laurel Trail at the preserve sponsored by the garden club. There was arbutus, partridge berry, hepatica, round leaf wintergreen, water cress and other native flowers.

Decorations on the buffet table were also Springlike with the salads adding color to the table which Mrs. W. R. Erickson and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson had decorated with an epergne as a centerpiece with daffodils from Erickson's garden spilling from it including five different varieties. A birthday cake marked the club's 25th birthday. The club rooms were filled with baskets of forsythia, daffodils and greens.

Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman presided at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Robert A. Miller. Mrs. Edward Knob, bird chairman, read a letter from a former chairman, Mrs. Kathleen McDade. Mrs. Miller also asked the members to contribute plants for the Garden Club booth for the Cancer Drive on Friday, April 25, of which Mrs. Elwood Grant will be chairman.

The arrangements under the direction of Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Frank Stackhouse featured forsythia and pussy willows, white daffodils and coleus leaves, double begonia in a miniature wheelbarrow, daffodils and barberry, violets, rhythm arrangements in roots, myrtle and Spring flowers and an Easter arrangement of grape, pink and white hyacinths on a colorful hat. Mrs. Stackhouse, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. Edward Rothmiller, Mrs. W. R. Erickson, Mrs. Claude Cramer, Mrs. Steward Shiffer and Mrs. Grant contributed to the arrangement table.

Miss Fannie Swartswelder, horticulturist, recommended Christmas holly as long-lived and easy to grow, and displayed a grafted cactus in bloom, and a Eureka plant which blooms but one day.

Mrs. Paul Simmonds, of Jefferson, Maine, a former member, was welcomed as a guest. The luncheon committee included Mrs. Edward Rothmiller, Mrs. Edward Knob, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. Clinton Kautz and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson and Mrs. W. R. Erickson.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

As eddies spread out from a boat, still hidden from sight, and reach the shore in little waves of sound and flashing light, so the reports of Miss Mueller's charm and vivacity have been reaching me from all the meetings she has been so generous about attending.

And last night I got a glimpse of her myself at the Business and Professional Woman's meeting, and could see what they meant.

But what I'm wondering about is the impression she must be getting of us. She's in this country studying American institutions, and the institution of the American Woman's Club should be quite an overwhelming one.

In Germany, the housework isn't a push-button affair, and women have to spend more time doing it which leaves little for club work or working outside the home, she explained.

Maybe, though, she just hasn't stayed in the right American homes. Seems to be an awful lot more to do around a house than push buttons—especially around house-cleaning time. And perhaps she hasn't seen the frantic rushing around, the burning of the midnight iron, that makes it possible for women to sit around at club meetings.

And if she did, perhaps she might wonder whether it was worth it all. Perhaps we do, too. Sometimes that is.

D. Of A. Rehearsal Tonight

Victoria Council, No. 165, Daughters of America, will hold their final degree team practice before they perform in Allentown tonight at 7:30 at the Odd Fellows Hall. It is the regular lodge meeting night, and final plans for the trip to Allentown and the local share in the school of instruction will be discussed.

A social time will follow the business meeting.

Amateurs To Vie Tonight At M. S. School

Middle Smithfield—The annual Amateur Night and Talent Show being sponsored by Parent Teachers Association and the Band Committee of the Smithfield School will open tonight at 8 o'clock with three separate divisions, in the entertainment.

The first will be a competition among a group of contestants, with the three highest contestants competing against the three who were voted winners in the earlier amateur night held in December.

The Middle Smithfield School Memorial trophy will be given to the winner of the elemination contest with a small trophy furnished by the band committee for the second place winners and a trophy presented by the PTA.

Between the two contests, there will be a number of specialty numbers including a monologue by Vivian Vaughn of the PTA, a one-act play by the Parent-Teachers Association, a marimba solo by Glenn Wallingford, and vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Beehler.

Joseph Kulic, principal who will serve as master-of-ceremonies, announced that so far the amateurs who will take part in the first part of the program includes Marilyn Miller, vocalist; Ralph Walker, twirling; tap dance team, Edna Ace, Janet Treible, Catherine Girard; trumpet duet, John Regina, and Dorothy Rosenberger; clarinet and saxophone duet, Victoria Hoehne and Rita Fish. Ray Borger, Joe Murray, and Lewis Fish will give a comedy skit, and there will be others on the program.

The three winners from the December amateur night, Rita and Myrna Fish, tap dancers; the square dance team; and Miss Marlene Kovacs of Bethlehem, will be present to compete against the winners of tonight's contest.

Penny Supper Here Tonight

The Christian Pals class of the Methodist Church is serving a penny supper tonight beginning at 5:30 and continuing until everything is sold.

They have planned an elaborate menu featuring baked ham, meat loaf and fried oysters and all that goes with it including five kinds of pie and other desserts. All the food will be prepared in the newly renovated kitchen of the church.

Local Women To Speak At Barrett Today

Barrett— Mrs. Horace Butler, secretary of the board of the Americans Cancer Society and Mrs. C. Edward DePuy, executive director of the Monroe County Organization Public Health Nursing will be guest speakers at the meeting of the Barrett Woman's Club this afternoon at 2:30 in the east room at Buck Hill Falls Inn.

A moving picture, "Traitor Within" will be shown and Mrs. Butler will speak on the cancer dressing program, and Mrs. DePuy on features of the nursing service.

The program is being arranged by Mrs. Harry Shinnen, chairman of the Barrett ACS drive.

Baby Baptized

Maryellen Hazel Shook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shook, was baptized at St. John's Evangalical Lutheran church by Rev. P. N. Wohlsen.

Sponsors were her aunt, Mary Ellen Henning, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Henning.

Special Services At Mission

Walter Beuttler, a leader of the Eastern Bible Institute, will conduct special services here on Saturday and Sunday nights at 7:30, it was announced last night by Rev. J. Russell Cairn of the First Pentacostal Assembly which is sponsoring the meetings.

They will be held at the Fifth Street Mission, and the public is invited.

International Relations Theme Of BPWC Meeting

The Business and Professional Woman's Club last night heard Kurt Wimer, a member of the Institute of the United Nations at Lake Success, and of the faculty at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College speak on "Problems of World Government" and Miss Dieta Mueller, German teacher now studying American institutions, answer questions at the International Relations meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Both speakers were introduced by Miss Marie Cody, chairman of International Relations. Mr. Wimer set for the way the United Nations is functioning today with its six different organs, describing the functions and accomplishments of each.

Miss Meuller was besieged with questions of comparison of schools, woman's clubs and radio in today's Germany. German schools, she felt, offered more challenge to the brilliant student who must maintain high standards to remain in academic schools. Women in Germany are too busy trying to survive to form many women's clubs, she said, and German radio with its absence of advertising is able to schedule much more classical music and educational programs.

The program opened with selections by the East Stroudsburg High School Ensemble under the direction of Miss Bettejo Goodall. Richard Van Why was featured in two baritone solos, "Way Back Home," and "Wagon Wheels." A baritone horn solo "Southern Cross" was presented by Lowell Fellman, with John Eaton as accompanist, and Charlotte Bach and Charlotte Herman presented a duet from the operetta "Pickles."

Ensemble numbers included "Dearest Lord Jesus," "Dedication," "Bonnie Doon," "The Gossips," "That's More to My Mind" and "Haunted Heart."

Miss Helen Kulp presided at the business meeting when $10 was voted for the Women's Medical College, Philadelphia, now celebrating its 100th anniversary. Announcement was made of the Tulsa Choral concert, the hospital dance, the choral and band concert at East Stroudsburg.

Miss Anna Courtright, Mrs. Martha Kintz and Mrs. Mildred Hoffstadt were appointed to the nominating committee, and the May meeting was announced for May 22, because of the State conference on the regular meeting date. A bread and cake sale was planned for June.

Dungaree Party For Jack Price

A dungaree party was held in honor of the 16th birthday of Jack Price at his home.

Guests included Patricia Reilly, of Port Jervis, Bill and Johnny Carson, Ruth Fetherman, Annabelle Leffelaar, Harry Miller, Barbara Miller, Barbara Serfass, Bill Serfass, Dick Astheimer, Nancy Feller, and Evan Huffsmith. Pat McCain had been invited but was unable to attend.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Miss Joan Harlacher, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Harlacher, Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg. She will return to school on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Vogt, of 803 Main St., Stroudsburg, have returned after spending the last three months in Miami, Fla.

Arthur Arnold, a member of the faculty of the schools in Lewes, Del. has returned after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lona Arnold, Chipperfield Drive. He had a friend, Robert Doty, as a guest for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kirby and Mrs. Hattie Singer, all of Philadelphia were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lona Arnold, Chipperfield Drive.

Open Seminar Planned By Guidance Clinic Board

The new quarters of the Monroe and Northampton County Child Guidance Clinic at 220 Bushkill St., Easton, were inspected at the monthly meeting of the executive board held Wednesday night there. During the past year the clinic has grown so rapidly that the old quarters became inadequate. The clinic now occupies two floors of the building, and anyone interested in the functioning of the clinic will be welcome to visit there.

At the meeting Wednesday night, the board voted its deep appreciation to the county commissioners of Monroe County for their appropriation of $2,500 and to the county commissioners of Northampton County for $5,000, making the services of the clinic available to the children of both counties who need psychiatric help.

The entire quota for Monroe County is $6,000 with $1,500 still to be raised by voluntary contributions. Anyone vitally interested in mental health who would like to help the clinic, may send a contribution to Mrs. Merle Stevenson, of 713 Thomas St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Stevenson is a member of the finance committee.

The board also made plans for a seminar to be held in the Treaty Room of the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Tuesday, May 6, at 8:30. The clinic has held monthly seminars for professional people who deal with children, but this is the first seminar to be open to the public. All who are interested in the emotional problems of children are invited to attend. A film, "Angry Boy" will be shown and a discussion period will follow.

Those attending the board meeting in Easton Wednesday night from Monroe County were Alfred Munson, Ralph Burrows, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Kathleen Butz, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. Merle Stevenson and Dr. Charlotte Jordan.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

On March 26th a letter arrived from a customer in Washington, D. C., asking for information about a ceramics set which had been given her a few years ago. One of the ash trays had been broken, and she wondered if Wyckoff's could replace it for her, since the set has a very special, sentimental value. As it happened, Wyckoff's could not. It has been some time since we carried that particular line, and it had been a special purchase. However, we forwarded to our customer the address of a manufacturer, whom we assumed to have made the article described.

Yesterday a second letter arrived. "Dear Wyckoff Shopper," it began, "In reference to your March 28th letter, I thank you whole heartedly for your information. The company mentioned is one to be commended for they sent not one but two ash trays, postpaid-insured, without charge. Hardly what one expects in this day and age. Thank you again."

We mention the incident to prove several points: First, that Wyckoff merchandise comes from dependable houses just as eager to please the customer as is the store itself; second, that Wyckoff's is not only happy to make a sale, but is anxious to keep its customer satisfied long after the transaction has been closed; and third, that Wyckoff merchandise can almost always be replaced in the event of loss or breakage, because the items in our gift and housewares department are chosen, not because they are whims of the moment but because they will continue to be smart, useful and in demand, for years to come. All of these are excellent reasons for shopping Wyckoff's frequently and confidently.

DOUGH, BOYS?

Have you ever seen a hungry-eyed child, face pressed against the glass of a pastry shop? Then you've seen me as I look this minute, reading over the list of items to be auctioned off by Wyckoff-Sears beginning Friday evening, April 25th in the parking lot. Just think of it! . . . a glass fly rod and automatic reel worth $32.40; a GE Waring steam iron worth $19.95; a chrome breakfast set priced at $135.50 . . . all these and more, going FREE to the highest bidder of EASY DOUGH, the dough that's YOURS FOR FREE with every cash purchase or payment on account. Oh, lucky you, with a "Biddersweet" life ahead!

FIRST "EASY DOUGH" AUCTION APRIL 25th

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

While losing yesterday's one-hit performance against Emmaus must have been heart-breaking for Alden "Red" Fetherman, it was nothing new for the hard working right hander, who is equally at home in the outfield or on the pitching mound. A triple and an infield out in the top of the seventh ruined Fetherman's bid for not only a scoreless pitching performance, but a no-hit contest. The oddity of it all was that it was Feather, Tom that is, who caused Fetherman's downfall. However, last year the same sort of a downfall hit Stroudsburg's three-letter athlete.

Fetherman hurled a one-hitter against Northampton last year before a wild pitch and some poor fielding enabled the Zephyrs to gain a 2-1 victory in eight frames, an overtime contest according to the Lehigh Valley League rules which limit a game to seven innings. Giving up only one safety is heart-breaking enough, but losing a single hit contest is enough to drive a man to the highest tower of the George Washington bridge, for a long leap into the water below.

Margie Besecker, Nita Warner and George Sebring watched the A's open the 1952 season against the Yankees on Tuesday and saw Harry Schaeffer, well known locally, hurl a portion of batting practice for the Bronx Bombers. Billy Long, second baseman with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1950 and now manager of Tarboro, N. C., of the class "D" Coastal Plain League, dropped this corner a card yesterday. Billy cut six men from his squad and still has 28 remaining, although another cut is scheduled for the very near future. Tarboro is a farm club for the Scranton Miners, of the class "A" Eastern League.

Harry Warner, holding down first base for Evansville, one of the class "B" Three-I League, the same club for which he played last year, chased home two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat Hagerstown, of the class "B" Inter-State League, in an exhibition contest the other day. Warner had two safeties in the contest. Frank Radler and Dewey Martling and families arrived safe and sound in Union City, Tenn. in time for spring training last Saturday. Radler will manage the town's class "D" Kitty League entry this season.

Each time that little Bobby Shantz of the A's, defeats the Yankees it hurts the New York front office more than appears on the surface or in the standings. The Yankees could have procured the little southpaw about five years ago, but turned the hurler down because of his size and selected a big hunk of pitcher named Joe on the Mahanoy City roster, when that club was in the North Atlantic League. Shantz has lived to make the Yankees regret their selection. Most of the discussion on the deal took place right here in Stroudsburg.

Russ Staples, former baseball, basketball and football star at East Stroudsburg High school, was on hand at yesterday's East Stroudsburg-Port Jervis game, after recently returning from Korea. East Stroudsburg substituted in yesterday's pre-season tussle, in an effort to get a line on the ability of the talent under actual playing conditions. The Cavaliers also featured their new uniforms, of gray flannel, with red, white and blue trimming. The charges of Coach Jack Kist open their portion of the Lehigh-Northampton League flag race next Tuesday, at Hellertown.

Ray Welsh, scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, took in a portion of both local high school games yesterday, while John Schoonover, manager of the Pocono A. C. entry in the Blue Mountain League, was on hand to watch Stroudsburg tangle with Emmaus at Gordon Giffels field. Rumors making the rounds indicate that at least two coaching changes are on tap for the local area. At least one is being brought about by a recent promotion.

Port Jervis Rallies To Clip Cavaliers

East Stroudsburg High dropped an exhibition baseball contest to Port Jervis at the East Stroudsburg Playground yesterday, 6-3, as both teams opened the 1952 season. Both clubs used several substitutions, with Eastburg sending 14 players in to action, as compared to 11 for the visiting Port Jervis nine.

Ray Steele, East Stroudsburg's leading hurler, worked the first five innings, giving up only three hits and two runs, while fanning nine and allowing only two free passes. Joe Antonocci finished up on the hill for the Cavaliers.

Irv Rothschild and John Barbarino divided the mound chores for Port Jervis, the former giving up four hits in the first four frames, while the latter was touched for only two safeties in the last five rounds.

Long Hits

Steele walked, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by George Litts in the second inning. Steele came back to triple in the fourth and was followed by a similar blow by Harold Litts, who in turn scored on an infield out by George Litts.

Port Jervis took advantage of several fielding lapses by the Cavaliers, as the visiting crew moved out in the sixth inning, 4-3, and then put the game on ice with two more counters in the bottom of the sixth frame.

Steele gave Port Jervis, featuring a well balanced club, single runs in the second and fourth rounds, while Antonocci was touched for the final four tallies, through no fault of his own.

Pirates Register First Win With Decision Over Cards, 5-3

St. Louis, (AP)—The rookie-studded Pittsburgh Pirates won their first game of the season here yesterday by beating the veteran but fumbling St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in the final of a three-game series.

The Cardinals committed three errors and two Pittsburgh runs were unearned. Rookie southpaw Joe Muir was the winner.

Leads Attack

Held to six hits, of which Ralph Kiner collected three, the Pirates pinned defeat on rookie relief pitcher Eddie Yuhas. They scored in each of the eighth and ninth innings after the Cardinals had pulled into a 3-3 tie in a seventh frame that promised to be highly profitable until pinch-hitter "Peanuts" Lowrey fell down on the base lines.

After Muir yielded St. Louis' eighth and final hit to Steve Bilko, first up in the home club's ninth, he was replaced by the veteran Ted Wilks, who prevented scoring.

Cincinnati (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, as usually is the case, were helpless before the pitching of veteran southpaw Kenny Raffensberger yesterday, and bowed to him and the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 0.

Raffy allowed only five hits to gain a life-time record of 21 victories against nine losses over the Cubs. He did not pass a batter.

Lead Attack

Grady Hatton and Bobby Adams powered the Reds' attack with home runs.

Bob Kelly, Cub pitcher, also allowed only five hits.

Emmaus Sinks Fetherman On Single Safety

Alden "Red" Fetherman fashioned a brilliant one-hit pitching performance in the first game of the season for Stroudsburg High School yesterday, but the safety was a booming triple to right-center field which resulted in a run a moment later to give Emmaus a 1-0 victory over the Mountaineers in a pitching duel at Gordon Giffels field.

Fetherman and Bob Reiss, Emmaus chucker, hooked up in a real pitchers battle throughout the contest, as the Emmaus hurler held Stroudsburg to a trio of harmless singles. Fetherman fanned 15 batters, walked one and another runner reached base on an error. Reiss retired 12 hitters on strikes, walked four and was particularly tight in the pinches.

Big Blow

Tom Feather, a right handed batter, drove his triple into right-center field as the first hitter in the seventh. Fetherman retired the next batter on strikes, but a slow roller which resulted in a putout at first enabled Feather to race across the plate with the only run of the game.

Stroudsburg threatened in the second, third and fourth innings, but the Mountaineers were never able to come up with the hit that might have won the ball game.

Karl Weingartner, Floyd Williams and Gene Caskie were the Stroudsburg batters able to account for a hit.

Fetherman retired the side on strikes in the second, fifth and sixth rounds, while Reiss turned the same trick in the second stanza.

Bangor In Action

Bangor—Bangor High opens its Lehigh-Northampton League baseball season at Nazareth today, at 4 p.m. Serman Schoonover, Dick Cruver and Rodney Taylor are scheduled to divide the pitching chores for the Bangor nine.

Red Sox Swamp Senators, 9-2

Washington, (AP)—Faye Throneberry, a 20-year-old rookie Red Sox outfielder up from Scranton, hit a 410-foot home run with three men on base yesterday as Boston beat the Washington Senators, 9-2.

The count was two strikes, no balls, and the bases were opportunity loaded when Throneberry came through in the sixth inning. His drive went into the Senator's bull pen, far out in centerfield.

That broke up what had been a pretty pitching battle between another Boston rookie, Bill Henry, and the Senator's Don Johnson.

Johnson Leaves

Johnson soon left the premises altogether. Henry, a graduate from Shreveport in the Texas League, allowed only one hit through the first six innings, but he finally weakened and was relieved at the start of the ninth inning.

Nevertheless, he turned in a sparkling five-hit job to win the first major league game.

Walt Dropo hit a home run in the ninth inning into the left field stands.

A fan, James McNally, apparently trying to catch the ball, leaned over the rail too far and fell 15 feet to the cinder path in front of the outfield wall.

He stretched out, stunned, but later recovered, and waved as he was being carried off.

McNally was taken to Mount Alto Hospital, where it was reported he had lacerated fingers and possible internal injuries.

Chisox Drop Three To Indians, 5-3

Chicago (AP) — The Cleveland Indians ran up their third straight victory over the powerless Chicago White Sox 5-3 yesterday with a 17-hit blast off five opposing pitchers that supported the steady seven hit twirling of Mike Garcia.

The winning barrage, which kept Cleveland tied with the St. Louis Browns for the American League lead, was topped by Luke Easter's first homer of the campaign. It was a 425-foot wallop into Comisky Park's right field upper deck in the fifth inning off Al Widmar.

Extra Bases.

Widmar, third in a succession of White Sox pitchers who disappointed 9,570 rooters, also served a double to Bobby Avila. That blow and Easter's clout were the Tribe's only extra base hits.

Avila, hitless in Cleveland's first two games, blossomed out with a four-for-four performance.

The Tribe bunched six successive singles in the second inning for a three run bulge.

The Tribe was shaky on defense, committing three errors. Two of them were in the seventh on a pair of Sox runs that sliced the lead to 4-3.

Browns Sweep Series From Tigers

Detroit (AP) — Les Moss and Bob Nieman of the rebuilt St. Louis Browns hammered home runs in the last two innings to spoil Prince Hal Newhouser's comeback debut and keep the unbeaten Browns in first place with a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers yesterday.

The Tigers rapped winning pitcher Bob Cain, their teammate last year, for nine hits but most of them were scattered singles. Cain was the third straight Brownie pitcher to go the route.

A's Nip Yanks Behind Shantz

Philadelphia, (AP)—The smallest pitcher of the American League made one of the toughest teams in that circuit rollover and play dead here yesterday when five foot six inch Bobby Shantz pitched Philadelphia to a 3-1 decision over the world champion New York Yankees.

Shantz not only scattered nine hits while posting his fourth win (three at the tailend of last season) over the Yanks but also gave his team the lead run with a timely single in the fourth inning.

Phils Nip Giants In Eleven

New York, (AP)—Connie Ryan, a former Giant who came to Philadelphia by way of Cincinnati last winter, cracked a home run with two out and a mate aboard in the top of the eleventh inning yesterday to give the Phils a 5-3 victory over the New York Giants.

Ryan's blow came off George Spencer who had relieved starter Larry Jansen after the Giants had fought back from behind in the ninth to deadlock the game at 3-3 and force it into overtime.

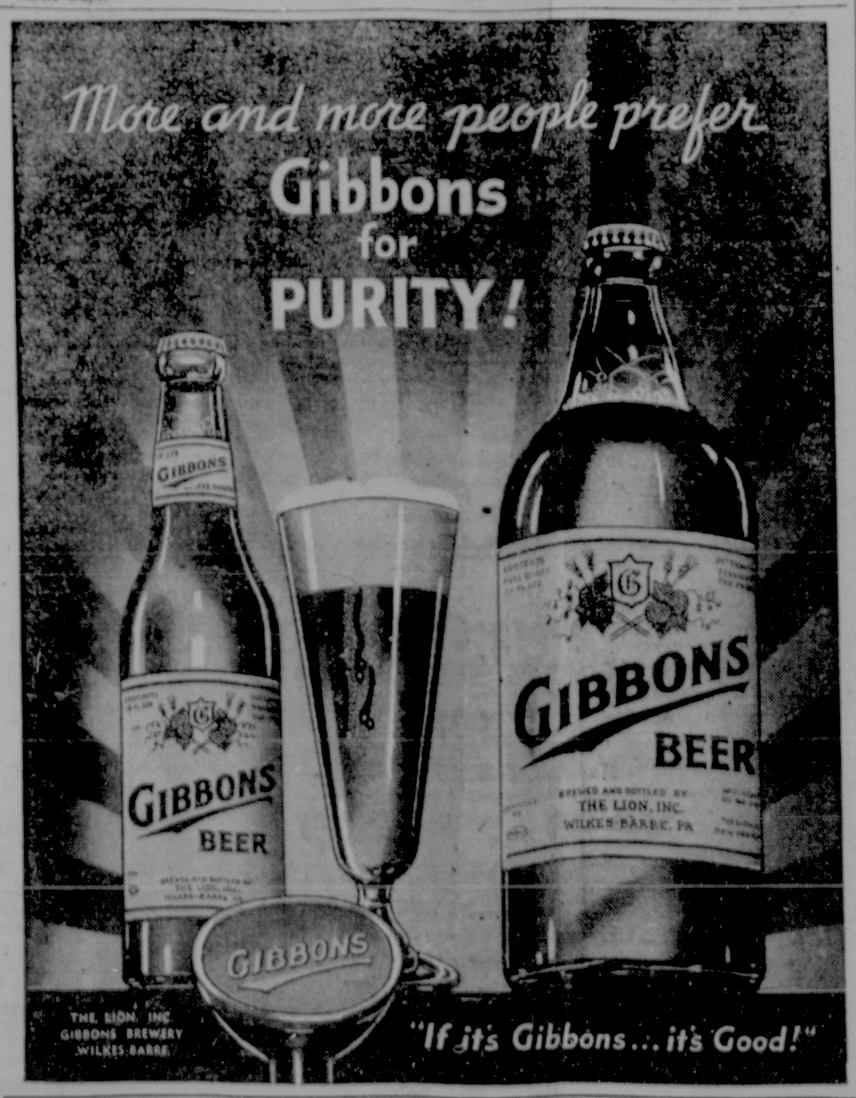

Lead

The Phils had forged ahead in their half of the ninth, snapping a 2-2 tie when Del Ennis singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Ryan.

Dodgers Blast Braves, 8-2

Boston (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers swept their first 1952 series yesterday by over-powering the Boston Braves, 8-2, behind a 17-hit attack. During the three games here, the Dodgers totaled 48 hits for a sensational .378 team batting average.

As was the case in the two previous games, Manager Charley Dressen started a southpaw against the Tribesmen, the veteran Johnny Schmitz, who gave up seven hits.

Carl Furillo, with four singles, and Andy Pafko, who clouted a homer and a double, led the Brooklyn attack.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 2 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, its amendments and supplements, that the School District of Stroud Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, intends to adopt a Resolution levying a $10.00 per capita tax for School purposes at a meeting of the Board of Directors of said School District to be held on the 12th day of May, 1952, at Seven o'clock, Eastern Standard Time. The reason which in the judgment of the Board of Directors of the School District of Stroud Township, necessitates the tax is that the present revenues of the School District are not sufficient to pay salary increases of the teaching staff, to pay the cost of repairs and maintenance of equipment, furniture and buildings; to pay the cost of additional pupil transportation and to pay a portion of the rental obligation of said School District under a contract with the State Public School Building Authority. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is the sum of $21,200.00.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Sensible warnings to be mindful of what you say, do and how you do it. Don't argue needlessly; don't override the rights of others.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Some restrictions likely, can be for our good. They give us time to finish tasks, ready our work bench, desk or home for a busy next week.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Friendly Mercury rays from yesterday still linger; but on whole calls for patience, careful analysis of important issues, close attention to duties.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Your Moon and other planets not all auspicious in aspect, advise extra caution in money transactions, dealing with property, other ventures. But don't fret.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Your activities are in the "be careful" category. Stop to think, plan before carrying out new ideas or ventures, but don't set back and worry.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Much is up to you and how demanding your program is. If not too exacting a day, you should be able to get things done efficiently. Be more careful signing checks, contracts, etc.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—One of those in-between days, neither too auspicious nor yet too hindering in tendency. The quicker you start day's essentials, the easier you will earn relaxation. Keep calm.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Day a challenge to your ingenuity, managerial ability and cheer despite lack of much help. You are usually at best when put to the test.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter nit in influence, Mars shows some restrictions. Scan carefully your day's MUSTS and treat them conscientiously, and in turn. Other matters will come later.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Have time for reflection, to check week's doings. Today is prime for finishing all tasks. Don't crowd self with unnecessary activities but do the essentials well.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—All matters may not be wholly as you desire but this is true for many today. Make the most of your responsibilities with the talent and capability God gave you.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your Neptune more favorably aspected today. Fresh advantages for shipping, chemicals, oil. Confidential interests sponsored.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are brain workers, can create new methods for advancing the usefulness of items, machinery, tools, etc. Should be fond of music, entertainment; are often humorous, interesting, but seldom like to submit to the directions of others. Ask God's help daily and you can reach the top in profession, trade, whatever calling. Birthdate: Flavius Gratianus, ancient Roman emperor.

AAA Travel Counselors In Session

Pocono Manor — Approximately 75 travel counselors representing 57 AAA automobile clubs in Pennsylvania are expected for the 1952 Spring Travel Counselors School to be conducted today and Saturday at Pocono Manor Inn.

The school is one of a series conducted semi-annually by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, of which State Secretary of Commerce Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre, is president, for the purpose of bringing travel counselors up-to-date on the latest information in the field of travel.

Pre-business sessions got under way last night with a dinner and get-together for travel counselors from the various AAA clubs throughout the State.

R. B. Maxwell, of Harrisburg, secretary-manager of the PMF, will welcome counselors attending the opening session this morning.

Addresing the group at the opening session will be:

Thomas M. Smith, manager of the AAA Travel Service Department; Charles Pratt, director of service, D.C. Division; W. K. S. Hershey, secretary of the White Rose Motor Club, York, and Charles E. Pugh, Harrisburg, manager of the PMF's License Service Department.

This afternoon will be devoted exclusively to a bus tour of the Pocono area for the purpose of allowing travel counselors to inspect hotel and vacationing accommadations in the area at first-hand.

Allan C. Hunsinger, secretary of the Lackawanna County Motor Club, Scranton, will serve as moderator for a panel on travel at the closing session on Saturday.

Travel counselors from AAA clubs in Delaware, New York and New Jersey are also expected to attend the Spring school.

"Instant Beauty"
liquid tinted base.
A new way to
"INSTANT BEAUTY" is a new kind of tinted make-up base . . . liquid, free-flowing, easy-spreading. In two minutes it brings that much-envied pore-less, flawless, blemish-free look . . . adds life and glow to powder and rouge. Unlike heavy, greasy foundations, "INSTANT BEAUTY" feels so light and dewy-moist, you forget you're wearing it.

Flood Tops 30-Foot Mark But Dikes Hold

Later Talks To Be Held With Murray

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer last night summoned the private owners of the seized steel industry to his office this morning — perhaps to tell them how much the government will boost worker wages.

Sawyer, government boss of the seized industry, said he would meet later today with CIO President Philip Murray. Murray said yesterday he expects the government to "impose" the full amount of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) recommendations.

Murray told a National Press Club luncheon he would take nothing less than the 26-cents-an-hour recommended by the WSB. He indicated, however, there would be no strike by the CIO Steelworkers if the government gave him less.

"I have never struck against the government in my life," Murray said. "That question would have to be decided at our union convention in Philadelphia next month."

President Truman, the target of continuing bitter attacks on his seizure of the mills, told a news conference that he, and not Sawyer, would have the final word on the amount of a government-directed pay boost, if any, for Murray's members. Murray made clear in the Press Club talk that he expected to get the controversial union shop, as well as all other WSB settlement recommendations.

Sawyer made his announcement of today's meeting with steel company executives after talking privately during the day with Murray and U. S. Steel Corp. President Benjamin Fairless. The nature of these talks was kept secret.

Charles M. White, president of Republic Steel Corp., meanwhile said in a statement that Ellis Arnall, price stabilizer, had used "distortions" in contending that steel profits are over $20 a ton before taxes.

White said Arnall "brushes off the fact, on the basis of his own figures, that the profit after taxes is less than one-third that amount."

Truman indirectly defended steel industry seizure at his news conference. He said he felt he has constitutional power to seize the nation's newspapers and radio stations if he regarded such a step as necessary to protect the best interests of the country.

Murray insisted he wouldn't take less than the WSB proposals.

"I have said both to the steel industry and to the government that the steelworkers are not going to further compromise their position in this matter," Murray said grimly. "Our union is sticking definitely and adamantly to the Wage Board's recommendations."

He said he was against seizure or "any form of government interference in labor disputes" as a "matter of principle" just as, he said, he is against any form of Socialism.

But he said the facts were that at government request he had five times postponed strike action. He said he would have preferred to fight out his problem with the industry in collectively bargaining or by a strike.

Kidnaped, Released

Miami, Fla., (AP)—Dan Richter, six-year-old member of the wealthy Richter jewelry family of Mima, was kidnaped for ransom from a private school yesterday and later released unharmed. Police reported the lad was freed on payment of $15,000 worth of diamonds and $200 in cash.

Permanent Cleanup

Washington (AP) —Newbold Morris, ousted three weeks ago as No. 1 sleuth in the Truman administration anti-corruption drive, proposed yesterday creation of a permanent Federal agency to enforce honesty in government.

Truman Writing History To Suit Himself: Byrnes

Washington (AP) — James F. Byrnes made a blistering attack on President Truman yesterday accusing him of writing history to suit himself and of playing into Russian hands with a "wrong statement" about the Polish-German boundary.

Byrnes, former secretary of state under Truman and now governor of South Carolina, spoke out in a Colliers magazine article. The article was prompted by publication in the recent book "Mr. President" of a letter which the President said he had read to Byrnes, bawling him out after the Moscow conference of December, 1945.

The letter depicted Truman as demanding a tough policy toward Russia from Byrnes, of insisting that Byrnes let him make foreign policy and of calling for an "iron fist" to hold Soviet ambitions in check.

Byrnes previously had denied, when the book was published, that Truman had ever read any such stinging rebuke to him.

"Among the numerous jottings made by Mr. Truman and printed in the book is this one: 'I am going to spend the rest of my life in an endeavor to cause a return to truthful writing and reporting.' I regret he did not reach that determination before he decided to write this memorandum letter and place it in the files."

The statement which Byrnes charges plays into Russian hands was one of those in the letter, referring to the Big Three meeting at Potsdam in the Summer of 1945. The letter read:

"At Potsdam we were faced with an accomplished fact and were by circumstances almost forced to agree to Russian occupation of eastern Poland and the occupation of that part of Germ-Poland."

The circumstances, according to the President, were that "we any east of the Oder River by were anxious" for Russian entry into the war against Japan.

Byrnes asserted he was not anxious for this, and he thought the President shared his view at Potsdam. He said he had advised the Chinese Nationalist government not to make any concessions to the Russians beyond those previously made at the Yalta conference by the Western powers in order to interest Russia in fighting Japan.

Furthermore, Byrnes said the President "is wrong" about having agreed to the territorial changes, or boundary lines, involving Russia, Poland and Germany.

"We did not reach such an agreement," Byrnes declared. "At Stuttgart in a speech I made with the approval of the President I told the German people there was no such agreement. It is unfortunate at this time that Mr. Truman should make this statement. The Soviets will welcome it.

HST Claims He Can Seize Radio Stations, Papers

Washington (AP) — President Truman said yesterday he believes he has constitutional power to seize the nation's newspapers and radio stations if he regarded such a step as necessary to protect the best interest of the country.

At his news conference, the President was asked whether, since he seized the steel industry under his inherent constitutional powers, he thought he could similarly seize the nation's newspapers and radios.

He said yes, if the President has to act to protect what is for the best interest of the country.

Truman Has Kind Words For Harriman

By The Associated Press

The scramble for the Democratic presidential nomination intensified last night as rival factions vied over the front-running candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Highlighting the confusion resulting from the withdrawal of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as a potential "compromise" choice for the Democratic presidential nomination, these were the developments:

President Truman, still disowning any desire to play the role of kingmaker, had kind words at his weekly news conference for the fledgling boom on behalf of his foreign aid chief, W. Averell Harriman.

Truman said he considers Harriman qualified to be president, and called him one of the country's most patriotic and able citizens.

He said too, that he was sorry Governor Stevenson decided not to run.

Asked about Kefauver, the President said he didn't think it was up to him to analyze all the candidates—then said quickly that he is very fond of Kefauver and that Kefauver came to see him before opening his campaign.

Truman also went on record as saying a Southerner could be nominated and elected—if willing to run on the Democratic party platform.

President Quoted As Calling Prominent Columnists Liars

Washington, (AP)—Another of those Truman letters turned up yesterday. In this one, the President says columnists Drew Pearson, Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky and John O'Donnell all are liars.

The letter was made public by James F. Byrnes, governor of South Carolina and former secretary of state, in connection with a magazine article in which Byrnes charges Truman himself with being careless with the truth.

The magazine didn't publish the letter, which was written to Byrnes on White House stationery June 21, 1949.

But Byrnes himself distributed photographic copies to back up his contention that his break with Truman occurred in 1949—and not, as the President has indicated, before Byrnes' resignation as secretary of state two years earlier.

The letter, which brought quick rebuttal from Pearson, says:

"Dear Jim:

"I appreciated very much your note of the 17th enclosing me a copy of the letter to Drew Pearson. Since I never read Mr. Pearson or listen to him I didn't know his statement had appeared. I don't think he ever told the truth intentionally.

"I never read or listen to Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky or John O'Donnell, or any of the liars for the simple season that it just stirs you up for no good purpose. When history is written the facts will speak for themselves.

"It was always customary for the State Department to accuse the White House or having leaks and for the White House to accuse the State Department of having leaks. I don't know which was correct—maybe both.

"Sincerely yours,
"Harry Truman."

Then the President adds in a hand-written postscript:

"Since your Washington & Lee speech I'm sure I know how Caesar felt when he said, 'et tu brute.' "

(This is what Julius Caesar is supposed to have said when he discovered that his old friend Brutus had joined in an assassination plot against him. In Latin it means: "And you, too, Brutus).

Byrnes cites the letter as proof that Truman "became offended" with him for criticizing the administration's domestic policies, in 1949 speech at Virginia's Washington and Lee College, rather than for anything he did or did not do as secretary of state.

New Guard Division To Be Formed

Harrisburg (AP)— Headquarters personnel of the Pennsylvania National Guard were making plans for a new division yesterday to accomodate its men returning from Federal service.

Lt. Gen. Frank A. Weber, commanding officer, said 20,000 former guardsmen will be back from active duty with the armed forces by this time next year.

"We've got to set up a new division for them," he said, "and that is what we're working on now. It's going to be a big job or reorganization."

Weber said some of the troops are coming back already. They are being returned early so there will not be too much of a rush all at once, he said.

As soon as the Army releases the 28th Division from active duty, that division number will again be given to the Pennsylvania National Guard, Weber said.

The 28th, a former component of the PNG, was activated in September of 1950 and sent to Germany for occupation duty 14 months later.

Weber said most of the Pennsylvania guardsmen who went into Federal service will be back with the guard after they are discharged.

Seven Ousted From Staff

Philadelphia (AP) — Five interns, a resident physician and a nurse were fired from the staff of the Philadelphia General Hospital yesterday because they refused to take Pennsylvania's loyalty oath.

City Solicitor Abraham L. Freedman said those dismissed—after a long session of the hospital's board of trustees—are:

Drs. Robert R. Baldwin of Philadelphia; Anna M. Chirico of Jeanette, Pa.; Kenneth J. Eagen of New Haven, Conn.; Frank W. Johnson of suburban Berwyn, and Donald E. Wohlrabe, of Philadelphia, the interns; Dr. Julina Gylfe, of Irwin, Ill., a junior resident physician and nurse Marie S. Fitzgerald of Philadelphia.

George R. Clark, a member of the hospital board, emphasized that the dismissals were quoted "purely" because the seven had failed to take the loyalty oath required under Pennsylvania law of all public employes.

Hits Extra-Pay Plan

Washington (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill) blasted the Pentagon's system of extra hazard pay for some military men yesterday, saying it places a "price tag" on morale of fighting men and creates a super-elite."

U. N. Willing To Resume POW Talks

Munsan, Korea, Friday (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators told the Communists today they are ready to reopen secret staff officer talks tomorrow on the deadlocked prisoner of war issue.

The secret parleys on exchange of Korean war prisoners have been recessed for two weeks. Both sides presumbaly have been exploring new methods to solve the dispute.

The Reds have been ready for a resumption of the prisoner talks for several days.

The talks bogged down over a Communist demand that all prisoners be exchanged. The U. N. command said it will not send back any prisoner who doesn't want to go.

Col. Chang Chun San, North Korea liaison officer, received the message the UNC was ready to reopen the talks immediately after a short and unproductive session of subdelegates discussing truce supervision.

Col. James Murray said the Allies are ready to resume the POW talks at 11 a.m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Friday EST).

Chang said the Communist would reply later in the day. But it is assumed they will agree since the Communists today, for a third time, expressed willingness to resume the talks. They first suggested a renewal of the secret meetings last Sunday.

The subdelegates met for eight minutes and 45 seconds today. There was no progress on the issues of Red nomination of Russia as a neutral, which the U. N. command opposes, and the U. N. demand for a ban on airfield construction, which the Reds say is none of its business.

Two Warships Engage Reds

Seoul, Korea, Friday (AP) — An American and a British destroyer yesterday dueled with Communist shore batteries on Korea's northeast coast. Neither ship was damaged.

The Navy said the HMS Concord received 35 to 50 nearby splashes from six enemy 105-millimeter guns in the Songjin sector. At Kojo, about 150 miles south of Songjin, the USS S. N. Moore reported four rounds of enemy fire close aboard after the American warship had shelled a troop bivouac, an ammunition dump, and a gun position.

The Navy announcement did not say whether any of the Red guns were knocked out by the Allied destroyers.

On the battle line, United Nations infantry parried Communist probes on the central and western fronts. Sporadic enemy artillery fire continued into this morning.

$420 Million Fire Levels 5,000 Houses

Tokyo, Friday (AP)— A great fire that raged out of control for 12 hours today destroyed 5,000 houses in Tottori and left possibly 27,000 of the 61,000 population homeless, Kyodo news agency reported.

The fire left one-third of the city in ashes, including the heart of the business district in the prefectural capital. Kyodo said first estimates put property losses at 15 billion yen ($420 million).

At least 160 Japanese were injured, but no deaths were reported.

It was by far the worst fire in Japan since the surrender of 1945 put an end to the desolating fire raids of Allied warplanes.

Relatives Of Airman To Fight Case

El Paso, Tex., (AP)—Relatives of an Air Force co-pilot sentenced to prison for refusal to fly said yesterday they planned to fight his case—to the President if necessary.

Friends and relatives joined the wife of Lt. Verne Goodwin in protesting his two-year prison sentence.

As this step developed in Goodwin's behalf, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg told newsmen in Washington a "so-called" stay-down strike of fliers was a "tempest in a teapot."

Goodwin is 29 and a native of Peabody, Mass. He refused to fly in a C-124 transport plane to England last December. He said he feared it would have caused his wife to lose their unborn child.

Vandenberg's comments were about a more general situation—of which Goodwin's case was a part.

The Air Force chief said publicity given to charges brought against a "small" number of airmen "is not indicative of anything as great as seems to appear on the surface." He said he didn't believe the trouble would continue, because the Air Force stopped recalling reservists involuntarily five months ago.

Goodwin was convicted of insubordination by a military court at Biggs Air Force Base here Wednesday. He was sentenced to two years at hard labor, dismissal from the service, and forfeit of pay.

Mrs. Shiffer, 86, Claimed By Death

Mrs. Mary A. Shiffer, 86, widow of Thomas Shiffer, died at 12:17 a.m. today at the home of her son, Granville, of Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg.

Council Bluffs, Omaha Brace For Crest At Dawn

Omaha (AP) — The angry flood waters of the Missouri River swirled above the 30-foot mark—more than 11 feet over flood stage—last night but the dikes of Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., held firm.

An awful suspense gripped the twin cities with the crest of the greatest flood in the wild Missouri's history only hours away.

By dawn, the Missouri would be throwing against the dikes and flood walls the worst it has to offer.

There was some seepage at critical points last night but Army engineers said pumps were keeping up with it.

Would the dikes continue to hold?

Will the construction genius of engineers and the brawn of the thousands who joined in a hasty recent-day effort to bolster and raise the levies be up to the test?

There was a feeling in Council Bluffs, from Mayor James F. Mulqueen down to the men working on the levees, that the battle might be won. The same guarded optimism prevailed in Omaha.

But it was touch and go.

The unprecedented mass of water, constricted into a bottleneck formed by the cities, pushed with terrifying force against the protective works."

Every hour brought new troubles, and yet new hope.

Sandboils developed and brought pinpointed rushes of workers to chock them.

Water pushed against and spilled through the flashboard which tops the concrete flood wall along Omaha's industrial riverfront. Pumps lifted the overflow back into the channel.

Secondary and supplementary levees were erected and bolstered wherever second lines of defense seemed warranted as engineers dusted off every trick in the flood-fighting book.

Levees were so saturated they oozed water. One Army engineer described them as "jelly-like" from the soaking. Light afternoon rain softened the tops and access roads, hampering the movement of sandbags and equipment.

Out of water's reach, no matter what happens, were some 34,000 of Council Bluffs' 45,000 residents and another 5,000 across the river. These are the folks who abandoned their homes in fear of the worst, leaving nearly three-fourths of Council Bluffs and the entire East Omaha and Carter Lake, Ia., areas across the river ghostly vacant.

The river level late yesterday passed 29.7 feet. A crest of 31.5 was expected during the night. Flood stage is 19 and the previous record high in 1881 is 24.6.

Peril won't end with the crest's arrival, engineers warned. The long flat top of the crest will last four hours and dike failures could come even after the water has receded.

The St. Joseph, Mo., stockyards became the third to suffer a flood embargo.

One Hostage Released By Jail Rioters

Rahway, N. J. (AP)— Prisoners at the Rahway Reformatory staged a riot in a dormitory wing last night, trapping nine guards. They were attempting to break out through barred windows, Superintendent R. W. Lagay reported.

Trenton, N.J. (AP) — A state prison employe, one of four hostages held by a stubborn band of rioting prisoners, was released last night because of illness.

Deputy Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies F. Lovell Bixby said the convicts, barricaded in the prison print shop, let Oris Robinson out through a window after he apparently suffered a mild heart attack.

Robinson, who has been in charge of the print shop for the past four years and has been a prison employe 22 years, walked out under his own power, Bixby said. He was "well shaken up, but apparently not in serious condition," Bixby added. He had been held hostage for more than 60 hours.

Sixty-nine convicts barricaded themselves in the print shop and have been holding out since last Tuesday, demanding the ouster of Warden William H. Carty and an investigation of the institution.

They sent a note out with Robison, Bixby said, asking for another talk with Sanford Bates, commissioner of institutions and agencies, and Robert R. Hannum representative of a national association interested in prison administration and rehabilitation of convicts.

Phantom Held For Murder

Los Angeles (AP) — Accused "phantom gunman" Evan Charles Thomas yesterday blamed "a strange urge" for five shoot-and-run attacks on women, one fatal.

Veteran sheriff's deputies probed the psychology of the 29-year-old railroad switchman who says he "got a thrill" out of taking pot shots at women.

Thomas was formally charged yesterday with murder and seven counts of assault with a deadly weapon.

Investigators said they believe Thomas' story of prowling with a .22 rifle, regardless of a conflicting ballistics report that slugs recovered in the five shootings were not fired from the same gun. Said Lt. Floyd Rosenberg:

"He showed us exactly where he stood when he says he shot. A couple of the places are the only spots where anyone could have stood for the bullet to hit as it did."

Thomas said his sniping began last August when his wife and two children were visiting her mother. Mrs. Thomas is expecting a third child.

Kreisler Gives Violin To U. S.

Washington, (AP)—One of the world's most famous violins turned up in the Library of Congress yesterday after a long and hectic career that found it in the posession of one of Napoleon's generals, a British pirate, a parson and Fritz Kreisler.

The violin was built in 1773 by Guiseppi (or Joseph) Guarneri Del Gesu. It is worth untold thousands.

Kreisler himself gave the instrument to the library. It is to be used for the advancement of music in this country.

Nine School Districts Hold Joint Dinner

The annual spring dinner meeting of school districts which send students to the East Stroudsburg schools was held last night at 6:30 at the Junior High building.

Home economics students of the Junior High School, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Thiesen served the dinner which was attended by school board members from nine districts.

Directors from Smithfield, Middle Smithfield, Price and Stroud Townships in Monroe County; Porter and Lehman in Pike; Portland borough and Upper and Lower Mount Bethel in Northampton County were invited to attend the meeting.

Plans for the forthcoming school year, including changes in services offered by the East Borough school system, were listed prominently on the agenda of discussion.

A proposed calendar for the year was presented for adoption by the representatives present at the meeting.

1,000 Trees Planted On ESHS Land

The fourth annual Arbor Day program, sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, was held yesterday afternoon at the High School Stadium.

Highlight of the program was planting of a thousand red and Scotch pine trees on the high school grounds adjoining the athletic field.

As a result of these programs some 4,000 trees have been planted. Conservation is one of the interests of the Exchange Club.

Music was furnished by the school band under direction of Clement Wiedinmyer. Rev. Harold C. Eaton gave the invocation. Roger Dunning, club president, talked briefly on conservation, and an oration on the subject was given by Barbara Shaffer, a student of the high school.

The planting was done by students of the technical course, under direction of Charles Schaller, Shop instructor.

S. C. Shaller Taken Ill On Street

Samuel C. Shaller, 516 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, was reported in "fair condition" at Monroe County General Hospital last night after a cardiac condition struck him down at a borough drug store.

Dr. J. L. Rumsey, the attending physician, was called to the Main St. drugstore at about 4 p.m. to treat a man who had collapsed in front of the store.

Dr. Rumsey gave Shaller "several injections" in the store and administered oxygen when an ambulance arrived on the scene.

Shaller was taken to the hospital in a "stuporous condition," Dr. Rumsey said. He was admitted at 4:20 p.m.

Biology Show Opens At High School

East Stroudsburg High School's annual biology exhibit is now on display in the school library.

Each sophomore student presents a project for exhibition in the collection which must deal with some general phase of biology.

The exhibits may consist of any of the following models: animal and plant models and classifications; conservation; skeletons; animal mazes; animal and plant dissections; drawings of plant or animal life; growth of plants under various conditions or an experiment in heredity using fruit flies.

Also included for display in a single unit of taxidermy. Some students collected spices as a part of their project.

Officials charged with the responsibility of judging the exhibit are Harold Lee, Walter Stem and Lewis Hastie, biology instructor at the school.

Prize-winning entries will be announced tomorrow. Awards are made on the basis of first, second and third prizes and an honorable mention.

A grand prize for the best general entry in the show is also awarded.

Entries are being judged on the basis of their story-telling value, the amount of work involved and neatness.

The exhibit is open to the general public and will remain open until Tuesday, April 22.

White Robin Pays Visit To Smith Home

Birds evidently have their politics the same as people, according to Chief County Assessor George Smith.

Near his East Stroudsburg RD1 home a few days ago, Smith saw the evidence.

The robins had arrived in force and were busy scrounging for unturned worms. Most were ordinary rusty-breasted humdrum work-a-day robins, but one was evidently a refugee from some current Washington, D. C. ruckus.

It appeared to be whitewashed.

It was snowy from stem to feathery stern. Smith said he's sure it was a robin because it "hollered" like one — which is also a habit of people or birds in the public eye.

On the other hand, the critter may have been merely an innocent albino. Smith has an eye for albinos. In past years he's spotted an all-white doe, a buck and a sparrow.

Judge Davis Looks Ahead To Long Day

President Judge Fred W. Davis will have a long day of it at the courthouse Tuesday.

The law sets the judge's hours for the election day—and they run from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., minimum. The law also states when the judge will have a chance to eat; he may recess from noon to 2 p. m., and 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., then it's back to work.

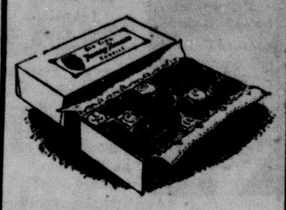

Purpose of the law is to have judicial authority available throughout the Primary Election period so that any election disputes arising may be promptly settled.

The court will be open for regular business as well as election matters, and it is expected that some routine matters may be cleaned up during the day-long session.

Commissioners said courthouse business offices will carry on as usual Tuesday.

Primary Thought

In five days, Pennsylvania voters will go to the polls in primary elections which are among the most interesting in years.

The outlook is for a big turnout of voters. And the principal interest will be in the preference voting on candidates for presidential nominations and in elections of delegates to the nominating conventions.

We hope there is a big turnout, and that each eligible voter will make every effort to exercise his franchise in this first round of the presidential election.

But there are other important contests at stake, overshadowed by the presidential primaries but nevertheless important to each voter.

Monroe County Republicans and Democrats will nominate their candidate for a seat in the State House of Representatives.

The successful candidate in November will sit in next year's session of the State Legislature. And next year's session of the Legislature will have some ticklish things to decide.

There's sure to be another attempt next year to put over a state income tax, or some other "broad-based tax"—meaning a tax that costs everybody money.

This could be avoided if a determined effort were made in the Legislature to cut down state spending, eliminate waste and get the taxpayer his dollar's worth.

Pork Barrel Pickled

In passing the rivers and harbors flood-control appropriation for the Army Engineers the other day, the House of Representatives chalked up a remarkable achievement.

It defeated 24 different amendments, each offered by individual congressmen and proposing to tack onto the bill funds for projects in their own districts.

This is log-rolling in reverse. The Appropriations Committee had cut $200 millions from the bill—nearly 30 per cent. The House made that stick.

That doesn't mean the ork barrel is permanently pickled. There is still the Senate. But if every senator will keep in mind that the Truman budget, as submitted to Congress, calls for a $14-billion deficit, it should encourage him to follow the pattern set by the House.

The Rampaging Missouri

The disastrous flood rampaging over Middle West states crossed by the Missouri River brings into a sharp focus for the second time within a year the imperative need for flood control along the Missouri-Mississippi system.

It was only a year ago that a calamitous flood raged through the Kansas City territory, bringing heartaches to thousands who saw their homes and savings washed away, and property loss estimated at more than $800 million.

As this is written, whole towns have been depopulated by the flood, termed the worst in 71 years. More than 75,000 persons have been made homeless and millions of acres of rich farmland are inundated. Business and residential areas are under water, and more rain is adding to the woes of man's efforts to stem the rising tide of the flood waters.

The cost of the two disastrous floods within a year is in itself enough to have financed the type of flood control that would contain the rampaging rivers. The cost in heartaches to those thousands made homeless can not be measured in dollars. It is in the tradition of American ideals that something should be done to prevent another such disaster in this vital industrial and farm area. It must be met on a scale that will end the menace forever.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

So, We Are Liars!

On June 21, 1949, President Harry Truman wrote to his former Secretary of State, James Byrnes, as follows:

"Dear Jim:

"I appreciated very much your note of the 17th, enclosing me a copy of the letter to Drew Pearson. Since I never read Mr. Pearson or listen to him I didn't know his statement had appeared. I don't think he ever told the truth intentionally.

"I never read or listen to Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky or John O'Donnell, or any of the liars for the simple reason that it just stirs you up for no good purpose. When history is written the facts will speak for themselves.

"It was always customary for the State Department to accuse the White House of having leaks and for the White House to accuse the State Department of having leaks. I don't know which was correct—maybe both.

"Sincerely yours,

"s/ Harry Truman"

I had not known until this morning, when I write of this, that the President held me in such esteem. I wonder how, if he never read or listened to me, he knows that I am a liar. Also, it would be interesting to have a bill of particulars—precisely what did I write in 1949 that bothered the President so much?

I do not know how Pegler or Winchell or O'Donnell feels about it, but I am pleased that Harry Truman spelled my name correctly. It is a difficult name. Unless a person sees my kind of a name often, he does not readily remember it and either calls me by the name of a more famous aviation engineer or an even more famous conductor. Thanks for the compliment, Mr. President!

I looked up my records to discover what I might have written on June 20 or June 21, 1949 to call me to the President's attention. On June 20, I wrote an article on Whittaker Chambers, in which I called attention to the probability of Alger Hiss's guilt.

You may recall that President Truman called the charges against Alger Hiss a red herring, but I had already then for 10 years been writing about the dangers of the Harold Ware Cell in Washington to which Hiss belonged. Admittedly, I wrote with caution because as the Administration was protecting its Communists, I had to avoid libel.

On the record, Alger Hiss was convicted after investigation by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Grand Jury proceedings and two public trials. Again, on the record, Harry Truman talked nonsense when he referred to the Hiss matter as a red herring.

As regards the article of June 21, 1949, I wrote on a reader's judgment that Senator Hickenlooper was smearing Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lilienthal. I said:

". . . Congress may sometimes hit out blindly in the course of an inquiry and hurt an innocent person. On balance, this evil has been trifling, except for the particular individual, compared with the great good done by Congressional committees."

On the record, Mr. Truman has fought with every Congress, the 79th, the 80th, the 81st, and the 82nd, since he has been President. He apparently assumes that the President is the leader of Congress and that that body must obey his wishes and whims.

He regards himself as the smartest man that ever lived, except General George Marshall, who is the greatest American that ever lived. I do not know how he places Dean Acheson in relationship to himself and George Marshall.

In this same letter that Harry Truman wrote to James Byrnes, he added a postscript in his own hand. Concerning this postscript, Secretary Byrnes writes in his article in "Collier's" magazine. The postscript reads:

"Since your Washington & Lee speech I'm sure I know how Caesar felt when he said 'Et tu Brute.'"

Byrnes replied that he was no Brutus and that Truman was no Caesar, which you can take any way you like. Brutus stabbed Caesar in the back, an event which gave Shakespeare a chance to write a great play and Mark Anthony a wonderful speech that schoolboys used to learn by heart, before progressive education abolished memory.

Harry Truman, who boasts a phenomenal knowledge of history, may recall what happened to Rome under Caesar's successors—it ceased to be a republic and went slowly to hell.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A Scottish golfer stepped up to the first tee, and sliced his ball so badly that it crashed through a window of the clubhouse way off to the right. He rushed to retrieve it, and found a half dozen fellow members in a dither of excitement. "Darnest ricochet in the history of St. Albans," marveled one. "After that ball broke the window, it bounced off Mrs. McIntosh's head, knocked over MacTavish's whiskey and soda, bounced through another window, and broke the rector's windshield."

"Never mind all the chatter," said the golfer severely. "Where is my ball now?"

Somebody asked the great night-club favorite, Joe E. Lewis, "Have you any idea of what happened to that big game hunter who used to swagger around the Copacabana when he was in town?" "He's dead, poor chap," mourned Lewis. "Something he disagreed with ate him."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, --I am astounded at the silence of the Baltimore Bugle, Owen Lattimore who hasn't opened his mouth since former Ambassador William C. Bullitt made a clown of him in testimony before the McCarran Internal Security Subcommmittee of the Senate.

Lattimore is getting more and more like the State Department's ambassador at large, Philip C. Jessup. Both of them used to pontificate at every opportunity, and without even being asked, about what this country should do in Asia. If anyone ever criticized their fuzzy yammering, a resounding reply in double talk always followed instantaneously. Now, however, both are retiring behind long lapses of silence. And I think I know the reason why.

Bullitt was our ambassador in Moscow, you remember, when the Baltimore Bugle and assorted Communists from this country were licking Kremlin boots while figuring out a way to sell Asia down the river of Soviet domination.

One of the favorite methods of camouflaging the cooperation of U. S. Reds with the Kremlin was via the institution of Pacific relations. Senator Pat McCarran's subcommittee, with chief counsel Robert Morris in charge of the dissection, has just completed showing up the IPR for what it really was—a goofy collection of alleged scholars controlled by Communists, near-Communists and assorted other Kremlin stooges. Lattimore and Jessup were high moguls in this international rat trap.

When the Bugle blew into Moscow in 1936, he had a chat with Bullitt. The ex-ambassador is made of somewhat different fiber from a lot of other former and present State Department officials. He had heard the same sound the Baltimore Bugle was blowing, many times before—and it was right out of a Kremlin window.

Lattimore wanted to overlook the execution of some three or four hundred loyal Chinese in outer Mongolia by the Russian secret police. He wanted the United States to recognize that territory's "independence" from China, to give it diplomatic recogition as a free state entitled to membership in the League of Nations.

Bullitt says he told Lattimore that the Russians ran outer Mongolia, and that if Lattimore thought otherwise he was either ignorant or "deliberately attempting to assist in the spread of Communist authority throughout Asia."

There is more to the story which somehow failed to get in the regular press accounts of Bullitt's testimony. Bullitt tangled with the Baltimore Bugle once more. It was on a radio program in 1948, when the Chinese Nationalist troops were begging for U. S. equipment because the Chinese Reds, under Russian direction and with supplies from the Russians, had Chiang Kai-Shek's troops set up for the kill. We had helped create the situation by refusing to give arms to the Nationalists.

Lattimore drummed up some smart talk about how the Chinese Communist troops in Manchuria were equipping theselves with American arms abandoned by cowardly Nationalist troops. This went over the air waves to several million Americans who are sympathetic to the Chinese but deplore cowardice wherever they find it.

Lattimore was spewing straight Communist propaganda when he made his remark. Bullitt pointed out that there were no Chinese Communist troops in Manchuria at the time and later, when they did get there, they were sent in by the Russians, who had equipped them with captured Japanese arms and ammunition.

I am less charitable towards the Baltimore Bugle than Bullitt was. He testified that he had told Lattimore on the radio:

"'You are the head of a school on International Relations. You have no right to evade an answer to your extraordinary statement.'" Bullitt then went on: "I am led to conclude that Mr. Lattimore is once more behaving either as a man who was interested in promoting the conquest of the Far East by the Communists; or as I said before, that he was simply a charlatan who knew nothing about the subjects on which he took positions and that he had no business to be at the head of a school on International Relations of a distinguished university."

Lattimore was, and is, head of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, and he still is required White House and State Department reading on topics dealing with Asia.

Bullitt's disgust was monumental after a few years of dealing with people like the Baltimore Bugle. He quit. Lattimore and the boys stayed around, however, and look where China is today.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

Fall River, Mass. — You sit there, a displaced and uneasy New Yorker, in the old and comfortable courthouse, glassily watching the courtroom attendants drifting in and out of secret doors with enigmatic smiles on their faces, and you ask yourself: what am I doing here, anyway?

Well, what you are doing is simple. On the 14th day of August in 1949, sunburned and happy, you came rolling happily along Route 177 just outside this hungry and depression - steamrollered city, on your way home from a week at the Cape.

It was 8:30 a. m. and only one item marred the bright and sunny morning. This was a 1941 sedan which engaged you in combat at a blind intersection and left your coupe wounded and dying in the road.

So here you are, opening the old wounds, trying to remember the nightmare of the collision. You have covered a thousand trials by jury. Some of them bored you and others have excited you. Now you are in one yourself. Your first.

What will it be like, standing up there in the witness box—for this is New England, and sitting witnesses likely are considered soft and effete—and trying desperately to remember the truth, as it took place that August morning? Soon you will find out.

The other driver is called first. She turns out to be a registered nurse. You hardly remember her, and she tells her story easily and with apparent truth under the prodding of both attorneys. Then, suddenly, she announces with slightly downcast eyes that you (you flinch) were traveling at an enormous rate of speed. This is not as you remember it. Look, you want to get up and say, the thing couldn't do more than 40. This is enormous?

Then you lean back in the cane chair and relax and meditate on New York, hundreds of miles away, whirling and raffish and noisy, and the peace of this polished, airy old courtroom, where the word seems to be—what's the hurry?

You eye the jury. They are obviously conscientious and interested as the nurse begins her tale, but as the minutes wear on, they seem a little bored. They have been at their job five weeks and this is their final case. Their work waits for them. They must be chafing to get back to their desks, their grease pits, their machines.

You are called, finally — you have worn a blue suit and somber tie, so nobody can rear up and call you a flashy New Yorker—and your attorney leads you carefully through your story. You preen a little as you stand there, and then the defense attorney steps up, gray and worried-looking.

Promptly he asks you frightening, ominous things like how fast and how far and how many feet and what rate of speed. This man must know you almost failed algebra.

He keeps at you like a terrier after a rat, a reasonably accurate simile, and when he allows you finally to step down, there is a satisfied air about him as if he has demolished a tray full of dishes with one pull of the rug.

Back in your chair, you glumly watch the lady who had been in the car with you tell her story. You brighten a little, as she handles the attorney candidly and easily, telling the truth so easily that he seems nonplussed.

The jurors try to pay attention but one seems ready to fall asleep. The judge yawns, opens a book, looks out the window. He has been 30 years in Boston, and life in a small city like this seems to have him uncomfortable and bored.

The summations come, finally, late in the afternoon. Your attorney faces the jury. "It's a warming thing," he says expansively, "to have nice, decent people like this come in from New York to seek justice." He looks down at you a little darkly. "Even," he adds wistfully, "if they are a bit honestly stupid in their testimony." Well, you say to yourself. Well. So he's right. Well, anyway.

Then it is 4 p. m. and the judge tells the jury he'll charge them tomorrow. An attendant rises and ends the session with a wailing "And God save—" —you gulp a little and look at him, startled—"the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

You get up and leave, bound for New York and with only the faint memories of a spring day in the country.

TRIP TO MOON MAY COME SOONER THAN WE THINK

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

The men in the armed forces should show more respect to women in uniform, a special Defense Advisory Committee on Women has urged upon the Defense Department.

In a special report to Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, Assistant Defense Secretary the committee complained that the men don't show enough respect to their female colleagues.

"The committee strongly urges, "says the report," that men in the services be given orientation to the fact that they will work with women in uniform who merit their respect and courtesy as qualified members of the defense team."

A New York woman complained to me that men never give up their seats to her any more.

Ten or fifteen years ago, she said, a man would never keep his seat when a woman was standing.

To rise for a woman was as natural for a man as to tip his hat to her.

"I wonder why it is so," she mused. "Have men lost their manners?"

"No," I said to the woman, "it isn't that men have lost their manners. It is that women have lost their feminity."

With all due respect to them, I honestly believe that women are the queerest creations of nature in the whole wide world.

On the one hand, they want all the rights and prerogatives of men.

On the other, they want all the privileges and courtesies that are supposed to be the old-fashioned woman's.

Unfortunately — or fortunately—it doesn't quite work that way.

There used to be a time when a man would kiss a woman's hand.

But in those days a woman would hold a little lace handkerchief or a rose in her dainty hands.

But one doesn't kiss the hand that holds a sledge hammer, a shovel or a stenographer's notebook.

The woman who wields a cocktail glass or a cigarette with the best of men cannot expect the same treatment from a man that her weaker and daintier sister used to get.

The woman who can cuss with the best of men and tell just as off-color stories cannot expect to have a man handle her with plush-lined kid gloves.

Women want to be men's partners—but they would like to be "limited partners."

They want to eat their cake and have it, too.

Personally—and I think most men share my feelings in that respect—I am a little afraid of there "equal rights" women.

Maybe it's because I have a sneaking suspicion that women are just as smart or a bit smarter than we are.

In the old days we could be condescending to our women. We used to like to make them believe that we could do lots of things they could not do.

We used to come home nights and tell the "little woman" what a tough day we had at the office. We used to play the part of the "tired businessman."

Now they have got wise to us. They have found out that a day at the office is not nearly as tiring as a day at the kitchen sink.

They have discovered that it is just as pleasant to play "tired business woman' 'as "tired business man."

Let us hope the day will never come when a woman gets up to give her seat to a man.

If the steel made in the world in 1950 had been divided equally among the inhabitants of the earth, each person would have received about 173 pounds.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Robin Hood is one of those characters you'd think even the movies would have tired of by now. But no. And his resurrector this time is Walt Disney.

Walt, who made his name with animated pen and ink, has restored Robin with live actors, the way he handled "Treasure Island." It's at least the sixth screen treatment of the Sherwood Forest bandit-hero and his merrie men, and it leaves little to be desired.

Filmed in England, in handsome color and what are claimed to be "the storied haunts" of Robin and his archers, "The Story of Robin Hood" is well cast.

Robin is played by Richard Todd, the Irish actor whom Americans will remember in two Hollywood movies, "The Hasty Heart" and "Lightning Strikes Twice." In the role of Maid Marian, sweetheart of the outlaw-patriot, is pert and beautiful Joan Rice. The 22-year-old brunette, a former London waitress, had previous parts in two British films.

Other important roles are played by Peter Finch as the sheriff of Nottingham, James Hayter as Friar Tuck, James Robertson Justice as Little John, and Martita Hunt as Queen Eleanor. Allan-a-Dale, the roving minstrel, is played and sung by Elton Hayes, a British radio singer.

Robin got his screen start in 1912, when Alec B. Francis played the role. Next came Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., in 1922; Errol Flynn in "The Adventures of Robin Hood", 1938; Cornel Wilde, "Bandit of Sherwood Forest," 1946, and John Derek, "Rogues of Sherwood Forest," 1950. Folks who feel Robin's adventures happened long ago and far away probably will decide it's time the old boy had a rest.

"Denver & Rio Grande" is Edmond O'Brien and Sterling Hayden building rival railroads thru beautifully rugged Rockies in Technicolor. O'Brien works for Dean Jagger, the D. & R. G.'s retired Army-general boss. Hayden and Lyle Bettger block them with dynamite, robbery, and finally a head-on collision of trains.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Join Now!

We have delayed it until today, thinking that television's presentation of the Easter Parade was something that really couldn't have happened, and was just a bad dream, but we now announce the formation of a greatly needed organization, a National Association Against the Debasement of the Easter Spirit by the Free Plug Seekers' Guild. It will be dedicated to the suppression of midway, clambake and carnival routines for business promotions and amusement-world aggrandizements on holy days. Television did a most impressive job in telecasting, in all their majesty, the deeply moving Easter services in numerous churches. But its quick and amazing switch to street scenes blatantly exploiting characters of the trade marts, nightclubs, music halls, etc., made millions feel queasy. The cries of "Is there no limit?" are still being heard four days later.

Ham and eggs have long been an Easter dish, but never has so much ham been distributed by so many "eggs" as during the Fifth Avenue parade. The rush to get into the act and switch the mood from holiness to commercialism, from spiritual rededication to a sales pitch, and from an empty tomb at dawn to combination sales - counter, theatrical agency and bandwagon had to be seen to be believed. The heart-breaking story of the Man who died on a cross to glorify self-sacrifice and humility had hardly ceased before the leap was made by video to the side of the unabashed self-advertisers whose slogan is ever "Get yourself into this publicity rodeo or bust!" One moment countless American homes were spellbound by the wondrous music of organs and vested choirs and the unparalleled beauty of the Easter service dedicated to a Savior stripped and paraded in a crown of thorns . . . the next moment the audience was knee-deep in an orgy of close-ups of curious people airily describing their wealth of smart attire, up to and including the jewels! And getting in a plug helpful to their cash registers and careers!

We are not belittling the annual Easter style parade. We haven't missed one in years. They can be wonderful and have been until 1952 when the flashes of the paraders were outnumbered —and how!—by commercial-covered close-ups tooting their own horns before the majestic music from church, cathedral and parish house had died away. The switch from an altar of God to the altar of the hucksters was incredible. Only when a little child was caught by the video camera did one see a face that seemed to sense something a little revolting and forbidden. The kiddies appeared to know it was Easter and that they had just come from the houses of God.

There's real vaudeville at the Palace this week, but what can Betty Hutton do for an encore, a flagpole sitting act atop the Chrysler tower? . . . Betty is a combination of Eva Tanguay, the Four Marx Brothers, the Treadmill Chariot Race from Ben Hur, Sharkey the Seal and Daredevil DiMario, the man who used to ride around the inside of a wire cage on a flaming motorcycle . . . Clem McCarthy gets a banquet tossed in his honor next week, and it's about time, say we . . . Clem is the only racetrack announcer who can describe Paul Revere's ride inch by inch . . . The TV freeze has been lifted but Ima Dodo complains that it's still hard for her to find many hot programs. . . . We went trout fishing on opening day but merely to harden ourselves for easier survival in the daily subway crowds . . . Johnny Puleo, at the Palace with Borrah Minevich's Rascals, has at last come into his own as one of the great pantomimists of all time . . . The man who draws those caricatures of The Man of The Week on video must be drawing two other fellows . . . How about a Washington cabinet officer to be known as Secretary of Seizes? . . . Remember away back when a man could say he was in business for himself and be POSITIVE?

State Approves Preliminary Plans For Eldred Twp. School

Consolidation Proposal Wins Official Okay

The Eldred Township school district project to provide an elementary school with four classrooms and an all-purpose room at an approximate cost of $125,000 was advanced during a conference in Harrisburg this week by school officials.

Conferences were held with satisfactory results at the office of Rex Wrye, administrative assistant in Department of Public Instruction and with the department's architects.

Preliminary plans prepared by Rinker & Kiefer, Stroudsburg architects were approved.

Eldred school district now operates with four small school buildings. The proposed new structure will bring all students in a consolidated, modern elementary school system.

Mr. Rinker, the architect and Attorney F. J. Mervine, solicitor for the school district, accompanied these school officials.

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools; Walter Sebring, assistant superintendent; Arlington Smith, district secretary; Charles Allen Frantz, board vice president, Wilson Hawk and Cloyd Buck, board members.

Under regulations of the Department of Public Instruction, if the project bid is within the amount approved in current estimates, the State would grant about 60 per cent of the cost with the district providing about 40 per cent.

Once the building is placed in use, the district would enter into a rental agreement to amortize the grant from the State School Authority.

Junior High Stages Fair

East Stroudsburg Junior High School is this week staging a "school fair" to demonstrate the accomplishments of its pupils during the past year.

Included in the exhibition are samples of work done in classroom research, study groups and special classes at the school.

The fair is open to the general public and will be held tonight at the school building.

Mrs. Sarah Kline Booth, Who Helped Found Hospital, Dies At 88 In East Borough

Mrs. Sarah A. Kline Booth, 88, organizer of the General Hospital Auxiliary, its first president and one of the founders of that institution, died at 9:30 a. m., yesterday in her home, 91 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg.

She was the widow of James W. Booth, founder of International Boiler Works. In ill health for the past few years, Mrs. Booth's condition had become progressively more grave during the last eight months.

Mrs. Sarah Booth

Born in Reading, Pa., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reno Kline, Mrs. Booth came to East Stroudsburg with her husband in 1886 and resided there the remainder of her life.

She became interested in behalf of the General Hospital along with other East Stroudsburg citizens. Her organizing abilities soon produced a very potent auxiliary of women who in 1915 embarked on a campaign which produced most of the supporting funds for the institution.

Mrs. Booth participated in organization of the hospital when it was established in a building located on the site now occupied by the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Her devotion to the hospital cause had a direct bearing on its expansion and removal to larger quarters on East Brown St. and all of its subsequent building programs, including the most recent $1,500,000 expansion.

She was a charter member of the board of directors and even when ill health prevented constant attendance, she continued to exercise great influence in the affairs of the institution. She was an honorary member of the board at the time of her death.

Only recently the various auxiliaries defrayed costs of having a large portrait done of Mrs. Booth by Robert Logan, artist. It was placed in the director's room of the institution.

Mrs. Booth was also a charter member of the Grace Lutheran Church and for years was active in Republican political circles in Monroe County.

Survivors are one son, Chestr Booth, Washington, D. C.; two grandsons, James E. Booth, Lansdowne, Pa., Sherwood K. Booth, Arlington, Va.; a granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Hardin, Falls Church, Va.; seven great grandchildren and a half brother, Rev. J. R. Kline, Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Lutheran Church, will conduct services. Interment will be made in the family crypt in the Stroudsburg Mausoleum, Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Lanterman funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p. m.

Music Event Is Scheduled At Tamiment

A chamber music festival has been scheduled for June 19 through 22 at Tamiment, a resort located near Bushkill in Pike County.

It is the first time such a summer music festival has been arranged for the Pocono Mountain area, though such festivals are familiar to music lovers who make annual pilgrimages to the Berkshires, Catskills, Smokies or White Mountains.

Playing at the Tamiment festival will be the Curtis String Quartet, the New Chamber Music Orchestra of Philadelphia, Pianist Vladimir Sokoloff and other artists.

Cast Chosen For Comedy

Oliver Goldsmith's classic comedy "She Stoops To Conquer" will be presented by Mask and Zany and Alpha Psi Omega at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium at 8 p. m. April 24 and 25.

The play, one of the most popular in repertory theaters throughout the English-speaking world, revolves around a sedate British family, the Hardcastles.

Members of the cast, crews and the director, Katherine B. MacFarland, head of the college speech department, are currently preparing for final dress rehearsals before pronouncing the production a finished one.

Included in the cast are Patricia Cottrell, Florence Demers, Kathleen Lucious, Alica Azarian, John Van Yush, Robert Boltz, Don Harding, John Sebring and Larry Kuck.

Body Of Vet To Arrive Here Tuesday

The body of Kenneth Harrison Smiley, who was killed in action in Korea July 30, 1950, will arrive here Tuesday under military escort for funeral services at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, Wednesday, April 23, at 2 p.m. He was 21.

Full military rites by the Monroe County Joint Veterans Committee will mark the services. Burial is to be in Prospect cemetery.

Smiley attended East Stroudsburg High School prior to his enlistment April 18, 1946. He served his basic training at Fort Knox and was attached to field artillery. He went overseas early in July, 1950 and was killed shortly after he went into action.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smiley, East Stroudsburg. Other survivors are a brother, Frank at home; sister, Margaret Smiley, at home; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Heller, East Stroudsburg.

Vacation Bureau Directors Complete Arrangements For Third Annual Hotel Show

Directors of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau held their final meeting of the business year last night in the Penn-Stroud Hotel to perfect plans for the third annual hotel show and the annual meeting of the Vacation Bureau April 29 and 30 at Pocono Manor. Election of directors for the new year is now in progress through secret mail ballots.

Hostesses under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elvira Carlton will greet and guide the visitors to the hotel show. The show has now grown to be the largest in Pennsylvania, with 107 booths displaying wares, services and equipment of the purveyors and allied tradesmen who team up with resort and hotel operators to supply the needs and comforts of vacationers.

New officers of the bureau will be announced Wednesday, April 30 after the organization meeting at 11 a. m.

Featured speaker for the show will be R. E. S. Deichler, vice president for sales of American Airlines and former associate of John M. Crandall, of the Manor.

The show is co-sponsored by Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Association. Record attendance is expected at both dinner meetings, the NPRA on Tuesday, April 29, and Vacation Bureau on April 30.

Area Visitor Writes Song Of Poconos

Charles Hofmann, who lives in Baltimore, Md., took a trip to the Poconos a year ago. He went home with visions which he somehow managed to reduce to melody and rhyme.

The song shows that nature's awesome grandeur has inspired songsters to some of their most ethereal flights of poetry.

It runs in part:

"Clickety-clack, Woo! Woo! Clickety-clack, Woo! Woo! Hey, Hey—This train ride ain't to Chatanooga—it won't go—thru Santa Fe, But this train ride—a lotta' good'll do ya—

"See the beauty of the U. S. A. —See the Poconos pokin' their nose—Out of the Pennsylvania sky —Hear the Water Gap open its trap, and say 'How Ya Neighbor Hi' . . ."

In a letter this week, Hofmann said that the song has not yet become a national success.

State FTA Convention Opens Today

Over 200 of Pennsylvania's future Teachers of America, representing delegates of 30 chapters from both high schools and colleges, will converge on East Stroudsburg today for their fourth annual conclave.

Scheduled to begin at noon with registration, activities will occur at State Teachers College auditorium with the general session slated to open at 2 p.m. Theme of the convention is "Firm Foundation in an Unsettled World."

Mrs. Wilda Freebern Faust, national secretary of Future Teachers of America, will be the principal speaker at the parley and is listed to speak at 2:45. Ernest Berry Jr., of Cheyney State Teachers College, president of the PFTA will preside. Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, president of the local college and James Frawley, president of the Thaddeus Stevens Chapter, Future Teachers of America, will deliver greetings. Special music will be provided by the glee club of the East Borough college, under the direction of Dr. Donald Corson.

The college dining hall will be the scene of a tea at 3:45, followed by a tour of the campus.

Tonight at 6:30 a dinner meeting will be held at Penn-Stroud Hotel. Clyde R. Uhler, chairman of the committee on professional activities in teacher education institutions, will speak and John M. Lumley, vice president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will be the main speaker. Johnny Alteri's orchestra will provide music for dancing beginning at 8:30.

Tomorrow sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and the business meeting, with election of officers listed, will begin at 10:50 a.m. Dr. Leslie P. Hill, past president of Cheyney State Teachers College will address the final assembly at 11:30 a.m.

Committee personnel who arranged for the convention, include Frawley, general chairman, assisted by Joan Blank, Joan Bender and Emily Chubb. Also, Salvatore DeFede and Marcie Kennedy, co-chairmen of the housing committee; Herman Bastianelli, dinner ticket; Rosemarie Eichorn, banquet and dance; Lloyd Hahn, auditorium; Joan Givens, social; George Spillane, information and Jane Moffet, election. Dr. Nathan Berry, president; Joan Bender, East Stroudsburg, first vice president; Irving Rothman, Pittsburgh, second vice president; Joan Milius, Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh; Margaret Reismeier, Penn State; Herbert Jackson, Reading High School and Ronald Beckett, Slippery Rock State Teachers College, members at large.

MRS. WILDA FREEBERN Faust (above), national secretary of the Future Teachers of America, will address the assembly of Pennsylvania chapters at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College this afternoon. She served as high school teacher and elementary school principal in Miami, Fla.

Meyer is adviser of the local chapter.

Mrs. Russell Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stout and family, McMichaels.

Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Graeber. Mrs. Graeber has been ill.

During the Easter morning service at the Pocono Union Church, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Baumann were received as new members by Rev. Spangenberg.

Anthems by the choir were "The Holy City" and "He Lives, the King."

The children's Easter egg hunt was held on Monday afternoon. In spite of inclement weather a large number of children attended. Anna Mae Hartshorn received the first prize for finding the most eggs and "Butchie" Tucker received a prize for the least number of eggs discovered.

Merchandise Exhibits On Display

Several hundreds persons looked over the exhibit booths of 23 merchants and business houses last night at the Spring merchandise exhibit at the American Legion auditorium in East Stroudsburg.

The Legion sponsors said they expect the affair to become an annual one.

Visitors to the show may get ideas on novel gifts, Spring house redecorating, repainting and remodeling or home entertainment, a Legion sponsor said.

The exhibit will be open tonight and tomorrow from 6:30 to 10:30 p. m., and tomorrow from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. and at night from 6:30 to 10 p. m.

Tomorrow night members of the Youth Center orchestra will play at the show. The Legion Auxiliary operates a coffee and snack bar in the auditorium.

Exhibit chairman is Buck Rowe. Door prizes will be awarded at 9 and 10 p. m., and visitors must be present to win.

Barrett Class Visits Bank

A group of commercial students of Barrett High School this week got a preview of modern banking, including actual stand-by views, instructions and study on banking operations at Stroudsburg Security Trust Co.

Every department was covered by the group, including a visit inside the bank vault.

Mount Pocono

Mrs. L. T. Powers

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hartman included David and Sharon Hartman, Canadensis; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartman, Bartonsville and Mrs. Gertrude Harmon, Stroudsburg. David Hartman celebrated his third birthday while visiting his grandparents.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Ida Moore, Linden, sister of Mrs. Laura Hughes. Mrs. Moore had spent the past few summers with her sister here.

Pfc. William E. Kreger

Pfc. Kreger Takes Part In Maneuvers

Gilbert—Pfc. William E. Kreger, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kreger of this place currently is on maneuvers at Fort Hood, Texas.

Recently he visited Cpl. and Mrs. Kenneth Kunkle, formerly of Effort who now reside in Texas. Pfc. Kreger's wife, the former Emma Weiss, is residing in Ozark, Ala., near Camp Rucker where Pfc. Kreger is stationed.

DPA Cracks Down On Delinquents

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Department of Public Assistance is extending a drive to force deserting husbands and fathers to pay support for their dependents.

Deputy Secretary Robert P. Wray said Robert L. Kunsig, deputy attorney general, has been assigned by the State Justice Department to work with local courts, district attorneys, and county public assistance boards in carrying out the crackdown.

Locating deserting husbands and fathers, Wray said, is always a problem since many of them leave Pennsylvania. The Commonwealth has a new weapon here, however, for the 1951 Legislature approved a law authorizing Pennsylvania to cooperate with other states in attempts to locate the delinquents and force them to pay.

Students Of Pocono School To Present Concert Tonight

Tannersville—The Pocono Township School music department tonight presents its second annual Spring concert under the direction of Carmen Cavuto.

The school band, chorus and fourth grade flutophone class will participate in the concert with members of the band; also contributing instrumental solos.

The school choral group will open the concert with a tune from the musical "Best Foot Forward" by Hugh Martin and Ralph Blaine —"Buckle Down, Winsocki".

Cole Porter's "In The Still Of The Night" occupies the number two position on the program followed by the popular Rodgers and Hammerstein composition from "Oklahoma"—"Oh, What A Beautiful Morning".

The final choral selections will be "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise".

John Phillip Sousa's "The Crusader" march opens the instrumental section of the concert, followed by "In the Cathedral" by Gabriel Pierne.

"Mattinata" by Leoncavallo serves as the saxophone solo offering by Ann Frailey. A march, "Sharpshooters", presents a contrasting mood with the entire band participating.

Paul Yoder's musical version of the Cinderella story — "Glass Slipper"—will be number five on the program. Harriet Learn will be heard in a solo piano version of David Raksin's "Laura".

A novelty sketch — "Three Bears"—will be narrated by Steve Van DeWater.

Four other musical numbers, including two march tunes, will conclude the program.

Lancaster Cattle

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Happy Fireman Acclaims Vaylo

Daylight Found Me Completely Worn Out

Mr. Page Garland, Fire Captain of Hampton, New Hampshire writes—My duties as Fire Captain are performed at all hours of the day and night, and are a terrific tax on my system. I had no appetite, started to lose weight and sleep was next to impossible. My nerves were just plain ragged.

I was told that I had a vitamin and mineral deficiency. I tried many things without success until a druggist friend suggested VAYLO.

I had read about B_{12} in Reader's Digest, so started VAYLO and within a short time I felt like my old self. Even the boys at the Fire House noticed the improvement in my condition.

VAYLO has worked wonders for men and I would not be without it for the world. I want to tell everyone about it.

It certainly is the one formula that lives up to all it claims.

Spring Flowers Dominate Garden Club Salad Luncheon

The April salad bowl luncheon of the Monroe County Garden Club held yesterday at the YMCA carried Spring in its program, decorations and exhibits, as Norman Fischer, B. A., botanist at the Bowman's Hill Wild Flower Preserve spoke on the plants and trails there and showed a film of the preserves. This year's first flower to blossom, he said, was the Quaker ladies, blooming on February 20.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, who introduced him, in turn presented Mr. Fischer with a basket of wild plant material she had arranged and which will be transplanted on the Poconos Laurel Trail at the preserve sponsored by the garden club. There was arbutus, partridge berry, hepatica, round leaf wintergreen, water cress and other native flowers.

Decorations on the buffet table were also Springlike with the salads adding color to the table which Mrs. W. R. Erickson and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson had decorated with an epergne as a centerpiece with daffodils from Erickson's garden spilling from it including five different varieties. A birthday cake marked the club's 25th birthday. The club rooms were filled with baskets of forsythia, daffodils and greens.

Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman presided at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Robert A. Miller. Mrs. Edward Knob, bird chairman, read a letter from a former chairman, Mrs. Kathleen McDade. Mrs. Miller also asked the members to contribute plants for the Garden Club booth for the Cancer Drive on Friday, April 25, of which Mrs. Elwood Grant will be chairman.

The arrangements under the direction of Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Frank Stackhouse featured forsythia and pussy willows, white daffodils and coleus leaves, double begonia in a miniature wheelbarrow, daffodils and barberry, violets, rhythm arrangements in roots, myrtle and Spring flowers and an Easter arrangement of grape, pink and white hyacinths on a colorful hat. Mrs. Stackhouse, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. Edward Rothmiller, Mrs. W. R. Erickson, Mrs. Claude Cramer, Mrs. Steward Shiffer and Mrs. Grant contributed to the arrangement table.

Miss Fannie Swartswelder, horticulturist, recommended Christmas holly as long-lived and easy to grow, and displayed a grafted cactus in bloom, and a Eureka plant which blooms but one day.

Mrs. Paul Simmonds, of Jefferson, Maine, a former member, was welcomed as a guest. The luncheon committee included Mrs. Edward Rothmiller, Mrs. Edward Knob, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. Clinton Kautz and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson and Mrs. W. R. Erickson.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

As eddies spread out from a boat, still hidden from sight, and reach the shore in little waves of sound and flashing light, so the reports of Miss Mueller's charm and vivacity have been reaching me from all the meetings she has been so generous about attending.

And last night I got a glimpse of her myself at the Business and Professional Woman's meeting, and could see what they meant.

But what I'm wondering about is the impression she must be getting of us. She's in this country studying American institutions, and the institution of the American Woman's Club should be quite an overwhelming one.

In Germany, the housework isn't a push-button affair, and women have to spend more time doing it which leaves little for club work or working outside the home, she explained.

Maybe, though, she just hasn't stayed in the right American homes. Seems to be an awful lot more to do around a house than push buttons—especially around house-cleaning time. And perhaps she hasn't seen the frantic rushing around, the burning of the midnight iron, that makes it possible for women to sit around at club meetings.

And if she did, perhaps she might wonder whether it was worth it all. Perhaps we do, too. Sometimes that is.

Special Services At Mission

Walter Beuttler, a leader of the Eastern Bible Institute, will conduct special services here on Saturday and Sunday nights at 7:30, it was announced last night by Rev. J. Russell Cairn of the First Pentacostal Assembly which is sponsoring the meetings.

They will be held at the Fifth Street Mission, and the public is invited.

Amateurs To Vie Tonight At M. S. School

Middle Smithfield—The annual Amateur Night and Talent Show being sponsored by Parent Teachers Association and the Band Committee of the Smithfield School will open tonight at 8 o'clock with three separate divisions, in the entertainment.

The first will be a competition among a group of contestants, with the three highest contestants competing against the three who were voted winners in the earlier amateur night held in December.

The Middle Smithfield School Memorial trophy will be given to the winner of the elemination contest with a small trophy furnished by the band committee for the second place winners and a trophy presented by the PTA.

Between the two contests, there will be a number of specialty numbers including a monologue by Vivian Vaughn of the PTA, a one-act play by the Parent-Teachers Association, a marimba solo by Glenn Wallingford, and vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Beehler.

Joseph Kulic, principal who will serve as master-of-ceremonies, announced that so far the amateurs who will take part in the first part of the program includes Marilyn Miller, vocalist; Ralph Walker, twirling; tap dance team, Edna Ace, Janet Treible, Catherine Girard; trumpet duet, John Regina, and Dorothy Rosenberger; clarinet and saxophone duet, Victoria Hoehne and Rita Fish. Ray Borger, Joe Murray, and Lewis Fish will give a comedy skit, and there will be others on the program.

The three winners from the December amateur night, Rita and Myrna Fish, tap dancers; the square dance team; and Miss Marlene Kovacs of Bethlehem, will be present to compete against the winners of tonight's contest.

Penny Supper Here Tonight

The Christian Pals class of the Methodist Church is serving a penny supper tonight beginning at 5:30 and continuing until everything is sold.

They have planned an elaborate menu featuring baked ham, meat loaf and fried oysters and all that goes with it including five kinds of pie and other desserts. All the food will be prepared in the newly renovated kitchen of the church.

Local Women To Speak At Barrett Today

Barrett— Mrs. Horace Butler, secretary of the board of the Americans Cancer Society and Mrs. C. Edward DePuy, executive director of the Monroe County Organization Public Health Nursing will be guest speakers at the meeting of the Barrett Woman's Club this afternoon at 2:30 in the east room at Buck Hill Falls Inn.

A moving picture, "Traitor Within" will be shown and Mrs. Butler will speak on the cancer dressing program, and Mrs. DePuy on features of the nursing service.

The program is being arranged by Mrs. Harry Shinnen, chairman of the Barrett ACS drive.

Baby Baptized

Maryellen Hazel Shook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shook, was baptized at St. John's Evangalical Lutheran church by Rev. P. N. Wohlsen.

Sponsors were her aunt, Mary Ellen Henning, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Henning.

D. Of A. Rehearsal Tonight

Victoria Council, No. 165, Daughters of America, will hold their final degree team practice before they perform in Allentown tonight at 7:30 at the Odd Fellows Hall. It is the regular lodge meeting night, and final plans for the trip to Allentown and the local share in the school of instruction will be discussed.

A social time will follow the business meeting.

International Relations Theme Of BPWC Meeting

The Business and Professional Woman's Club last night heard Kurt Wimer, a member of the Institute of the United Nations at Lake Success, and of the faculty at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College speak on "Problems of World Government" and Miss Dieta Mueller, German teacher now studying American institutions, answer questions at the International Relations meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Both speakers were introduced by Miss Marie Cody, chairman of International Relations. Mr. Wimer set for the way the United Nations is functioning today with its six different organs, describing the functions and accomplishments of each.

Miss Meuller was besieged with questions of comparison of schools, woman's clubs and radio in today's Germany. German schools, she felt, offered more challenge to the brilliant student who must maintain high standards to remain in academic schools. Women in Germany are too busy trying to survive to form many women's clubs, she said, and German radio with its absence of advertising is able to schedule much more classical music and educational programs.

The program opened with selections by the East Stroudsburg High School Ensemble under the direction of Miss Bettejo Goodall. Richard Van Why was featured in two baritone solos, "Way Back Home," and "Wagon Wheels." A baritone horn solo "Southern Cross" was presented by Lowell Fellman, with John Eaton as accompanist, and Charlotte Bach and Charlotte Herman presented a duet from the operetta "Pickles."

Ensemble numbers included "Dearest Lord Jesus," "Dedication," "Bonnie Doon," "The Gossips," "That's More to My Mind" and "Haunted Heart."

Miss Helen Kulp presided at the business meeting when $10 was voted for the Women's Medical College, Philadelphia, now celebrating its 100th anniversary. Announcement was made of the Tulsa Choral concert, the hospital dance, the choral and band concert at East Stroudsburg.

Miss Anna Courtright, Mrs. Martha Kintz and Mrs. Mildred Hoffstadt were appointed to the nominating committee, and the May meeting was announced for May 22, because of the State conference on the regular meeting date. A bread and cake sale was planned for June.

Dungaree Party For Jack Price

A dungaree party was held in honor of the 16th birthday of Jack Price at his home.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Miss Joan Harlacher, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Harlacher, Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg. She will return to school on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Vogt, of 803 Main St., Stroudsburg, have returned after spending the last three months in Miami, Fla.

Arthur Arnold, a member of the faculty of the schools in Lewes, Del. has returned after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lona Arnold, Chipperfield Drive. He had a friend, Robert Doty, as a guest for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kirby and Mrs. Hattie Singer, all of Philadelphia were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lona Arnold, Chipperfield Drive.

Open Seminar Planned By Guidance Clinic Board

The new quarters of the Monroe and Northampton County Child Guidance Clinic at 220 Bushkill St., Easton, were inspected at the monthly meeting of the executive board held Wednesday night there. During the past year the clinic has grown so rapidly that the old quarters became inadequate. The clinic now occupies two floors of the building, and anyone interested in the functioning of the clinic will be welcome to visit there.

At the meeting Wednesday night, the board voted its deep appreciation to the county commissioners of Monroe County for their appropriation of $2,500 and to the county commissioners of Northampton County for $5,000, making the services of the clinic available to the children of both counties who need psychiatric help.

The entire quota for Monroe County is $6,000 with $1,500 still to be raised by voluntary contributions. Anyone vitally interested in mental health who would like to help the clinic, may send a contribution to Mrs. Merle Stevenson, of 713 Thomas St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Stevenson is a member of the finance committee.

The board also made plans for a seminar to be held in the Treaty Room of the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Tuesday, May 6, at 8:30. The clinic has held monthly seminars for professional people who deal with children, but this is the first seminar to be open to the public. All who are interested in the emotional problems of children are invited to attend. A film, "Angry Boy" will be shown and a discussion period will follow.

Those attending the board meeting in Easton Wednesday night from Monroe County were Alfred Munson, Ralph Burrows, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Kathleen Butz, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. Merle Stevenson and Dr. Charlotte Jordan.

Reservations Are Due For Presbyterial

Mrs. Paul Dellaria, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, has requested members planning to attend the Spring Presbyterial meeting in Allentown on April 25 to call her not later than Saturday, April 19.

Reservations for the luncheon and a list of those planning to drive is requested. The Presbyterial will meet in the First Presbyterian Church of Allentown.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

On March 26th a letter arrived from a customer in Washington, D. C., asking for information about a ceramics set which had been given her a few years ago. One of the ash trays had been broken, and she wondered if Wyckoff's could replace it for her, since the set has a very special, sentimental value. As it happened, Wyckoff's could not. It has been some time since we carried that particular line, and it had been a special purchase. However, we forwarded to our customer the address of a manufacturer, whom we assumed to have made the article described.

Yesterday a second letter arrived. "Dear Wyckoff Shopper," it began, "In reference to your March 28th letter, I thank you whole heartedly for your information. The company mentioned is one to be commended for they sent not one but two ash trays, postpaid-insured, without charge. Hardly what one expects in this day and age. Thank you again."

We mention the incident to prove several points: First, that Wyckoff merchandise comes from dependable houses just as eager to please the customer as is the store itself; second, that Wyckoff's is not only happy to make a sale, but is anxious to keep its customer satisfied long after the transaction has been closed; and third, that Wyckoff merchandise can almost always be replaced in the event of loss or breakage, because the items in our gift and housewares department are chosen, not because they are whims of the moment but because they will continue to be smart, useful and in demand, for years to come. All of these are excellent reasons for shopping Wyckoff's frequently and confidently.

DOUGH, BOYS?

Have you ever seen a hungry-eyed child, face pressed against the glass of a pastry shop? Then you've seen me as I look this minute, reading over the list of items to be auctioned off by Wyckoff-Sears beginning Friday evening, April 25th in the parking lot. Just think of it! . . . a glass fly rod and automatic reel worth $32.40; a GE Waring steam iron worth $19.95; a chrome breakfast set priced at $135.50 . . . all these and more, going FREE to the highest bidder of EASY DOUGH, the dough that's YOURS FOR FREE with every cash purchase or payment on account. Oh, lucky you, with a "Biddersweet" life ahead!

Eastburg, Stroudsburg Bow In Opening Baseball Games

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

While losing yesterday's one-hit performance against Emmaus must have been heart-breaking for Alden "Red" Fetherman, it was nothing new for the hard working right hander, who is equally at home in the outfield or on the pitching mound. A triple and an infield out in the top of the seventh ruined Fetherman's bid for not only a scoreless pitching performance, but a no-hit contest. The oddity of it all was that it was Feather, Tom that is, who caused Fetherman's downfall. However, last year the same sort of a downfall hit Stroudsburg's three-letter athlete.

Fetherman hurled a one-hitter against Northampton last year before a wild pitch and some poor fielding enabled the Zephyrs to gain a 2-1 victory in eight frames, an overtime contest according to the Lehigh Valley League rules which limit a game to seven innings. Giving up only one safety is heart-breaking enough, but losing a single hit contest is enough to drive a man to the highest tower of the George Washington bridge, for a long leap into the water below.

Margie Besecker, Nita Warner and George Sebring watched the A's open the 1952 season against the Yankees on Tuesday and saw Harry Schaeffer, well known locally, hurl a portion of batting practice for the Bronx Bombers. Billy Long, second baseman with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1950 and now manager of Tarboro, N. C., of the class "D" Coastal Plain League, dropped this corner a card yesterday. Billy cut six men from his squad and still has 28 remaining, although another cut is scheduled for the very near future. Tarboro is a farm club for the Scranton Miners, of the class "A" Eastern League.

Harry Warner, holding down first base for Evansville, one of the class "B" Three-I League, the same club for which he played last year, chased home two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat Hagerstown, of the class "B" Inter-State League, in an exhibition contest the other day. Warner had two safeties in the contest. Frank Radler and Dewey Martling and families arrived safe and sound in Union City, Tenn. in time for spring training last Saturday. Radler will manage the town's class "D" Kitty League entry this season.

Each time that little Bobby Shantz of the A's, defeats the Yankees it hurts the New York front office more than appears on the surface or in the standings. The Yankees could have procured the little southpaw about five years ago, but turned the hurler down because of his size and selected a big hunk of pitcher named Joe on the Mahanoy City roster, when that club was in the North Atlantic League. Shantz has lived to make the Yankees regret their selection. Most of the discussion on the deal took place right here in Stroudsburg.

Russ Staples, former baseball, basketball and football star at East Stroudsburg High school, was on hand at yesterday's East Stroudsburg-Port Jervis game, after recently returning from Korea. East Stroudsburg substituted in yesterday's pre-season tussle, in an effort to get a line on the ability of the talent under actual playing conditions. The Cavaliers also featured their new uniforms, of gray flannel, with red, white and blue trimming. The charges of Coach Jack Kist open their portion of the Lehigh-Northampton League flag race next Tuesday, at Hellertown.

Ray Welsh, scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, took in a portion of both local high school games yesterday, while John Schoonover, manager of the Pocono A. C. entry in the Blue Mountain League, was on hand to watch Stroudsburg tangle with Emmaus at Gordon Giffels field. Rumors making the rounds indicate that at least two coaching changes are on tap for the local area. At least one is being brought about by a recent promotion.

Port Jervis Rallies To Clip Cavaliers

East Stroudsburg High dropped an exhibition baseball contest to Port Jervis at the East Stroudsburg Playground yesterday, 6-3, as both teams opened the 1952 season. Both clubs used several substitutions, with Eastburg sending 14 players in to action, as compared to 11 for the visiting Port Jervis nine.

Ray Steele, East Stroudsburg's leading hurler, worked the first five innings, giving up only three hits and two runs, while fanning nine and allowing only two free passes. Joe Antonocci finished up on the hill for the Cavaliers.

Irv Rothschild and John Barbarino divided the mound chores for Port Jervis, the former giving up four hits in the first four frames, while the latter was touched for only two safeties in the last five rounds.

Long Hits

Steele walked, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by George Litts in the second inning. Steele came back to triple in the fourth and was followed by a similar blow by Harold Litts, who in turn scored on an infield out by George Litts.

Port Jervis took advantage of several fielding lapses by the Cavaliers, as the visiting crew moved out in the sixth inning, 4-3, and then put the game on ice with two more counters in the bottom of the sixth frame.

Steele gave Port Jervis, featuring a well balanced club, single runs in the second and fourth rounds, while Antonocci was touched for the final four tallies, through no fault of his own.

Pirates Register First Win With Decision Over Cards, 5-3

St. Louis, (AP)—The rookie-studded Pittsburgh Pirates won their first game of the season here yesterday by beating the veteran but fumbling St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in the final of a three-game series.

The Cardinals committed three errors and two Pittsburgh runs were unearned. Rookie southpaw Joe Muir was the winner.

Leads Attack

Held to six hits, of which Ralph Kiner collected three, the Pirates pinned defeat on rookie relief pitcher Eddie Yuhas. They scored in each of the eighth and ninth innings after the Cardinals had pulled into a 3-3 tie in a seventh frame that promised to be highly profitable until pinch-hitter "Peanuts" Lowrey fell down on the base lines.

After Muir yielded St. Louis' eighth and final hit to Steve Bilko, first up in the home club's ninth, he was replaced by the veteran Ted Wilks, who prevented scoring.

Raffy allowed only five hits to gain a life-time record of 21 victories against nine losses over the Cubs. He did not pass a batter.

Lead Attack

Grady Hatton and Bobby Adams powered the Reds' attack with home runs.

Bob Kelly, Cub pitcher, also allowed only five hits.

Emmaus Sinks Fetherman On Single Safety

Alden "Red" Fetherman fashioned a brilliant one-hit pitching performance in the first game of the season for Stroudsburg High School yesterday, but the safety was a booming triple to right-center field which resulted in a run a moment later to give Emmaus a 1-0 victory over the Mountaineers in a pitching duel at Gordon Giffels field.

Fetherman and Bob Reiss, Emmaus chucker, hooked up in a real pitchers battle throughout the contest, as the Emmaus hurler held Stroudsburg to a trio of harmless singles. Fetherman fanned 15 batters, walked one and another runner reached base on an error. Reiss retired 12 hitters on strikes, walked four and was particularly tight in the pinches.

Big Blow

Tom Feather, a right handed batter, drove his triple into right-center field as the first hitter in the seventh. Fetherman retired the next batter on strikes, but a slow roller which resulted in a putout at first enabled Feather to race across the plate with the only run of the game.

Stroudsburg threatened in the second, third and fourth innings, but the Mountaineers were never able to come up with the hit that might have won the ball game.

Karl Weingartner, Floyd Williams and Gene Caskie were the Stroudsburg batters able to account for a hit.

Fetherman retired the side on strikes in the second, fifth and sixth rounds, while Reiss turned the same trick in the second stanza.

Bangor In Action

Bangor—Bangor High opens its Lehigh-Northampton League baseball season at Nazareth today, at 4 p.m. Serman Schoonover, Dick Cruver and Rodney Taylor are scheduled to divide the pitching chores for the Bangor nine.

Red Sox Swamp Senators, 9-2

Washington, (AP)—Faye Throneberry, a 20-year-old rookie Red Sox outfielder up from Scranton, hit a 410-foot home run with three men on base yesterday as Boston beat the Washington Senators, 9-2.

The count was two strikes, no balls, and the bases were opportunity loaded when Throneberry came through in the sixth inning. His drive went into the Senator's bull pen, far out in centerfield.

That broke up what had been a pretty pitching battle between another Boston rookie, Bill Henry, and the Senator's Don Johnson.

Johnson Leaves

Johnson soon left the premises altogether. Henry, a graduate from Shreveport in the Texas League, allowed only one hit through the first six innings, but he finally weakened and was relieved at the start of the ninth inning.

Nevertheless, he turned in a sparkling five-hit job to win the first major league game.

Walt Dropo hit a home run in the ninth inning into the left field stands.

A fan, James McNally, apparently trying to catch the ball, leaned over the rail too far and fell 15 feet to the cinder path in front of the outfield wall.

He stretched out, stunned, but later recovered, and waved as he was being carried off.

McNally was taken to Mount Alto Hospital, where it was reported he had lacerated fingers and possible internal injuries.

Chisox Drop Three To Indians, 5-3

Chicago (AP) — The Cleveland Indians ran up their third straight victory over the powerless Chicago White Sox 5-3 yesterday with a 17-hit blast off five opposing pitchers that supported the steady seven hit twirling of Mike Garcia.

The winning barrage, which kept Cleveland tied with the St. Louis Browns for the American League lead, was topped by Luke Easter's first homer of the campaign. It was a 425-foot wallop into Comisky Park's right field upper deck in the fifth inning off Al Widmar.

Extra Bases.

Widmar, third in a succession of White Sox pitchers who disappointed 9,570 rooters, also served a double to Bobby Avila. That blow and Easter's clout were the Tribe's only extra base hits.

Avila, hitless in Cleveland's first two games, blossomed out with a four-for-four performance.

The Tribe bunched six successive singles in the second inning for a three run bulge.

The Tribe was shaky on defense, committing three errors. Two of them were in the seventh on a pair of Sox runs that sliced the lead to 4-3.

Browns Sweep Series From Tigers

Detroit (AP) — Les Moss and Bob Nieman of the rebuilt St. Louis Browns hammered home runs in the last two innings to spoil Prince Hal Newhouser's comeback debut and keep the unbeaten Browns in first place with a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers yesterday.

The Tigers rapped winning pitcher Bob Cain, their teammate last year, for nine hits but most of them were scattered singles. Cain was the third straight Brownie pitcher to go the route.

A's Nip Yanks Behind Shantz

Philadelphia, (AP)—The smallest pitcher of the American League made one of the toughest teams in that circuit rollover and play dead here yesterday when five foot six inch Bobby Shantz pitched Philadelphia to a 3-1 decision over the world champion New York Yankees.

Shantz not only scattered nine hits while posting his fourth win (three at the tailend of last season) over the Yanks but also gave his team the lead run with a timely single in the fourth inning.

Alleys three and four — Regina Hotel vs Kreamee Ice Cream.

Alleys five and six — Nauman's Sporting Goods vs Lanterman's Funeral Home.

Phils Nip Giants In Eleven

New York, (AP)—Connie Ryan, a former Giant who came to Philadelphia by way of Cincinnati last winter, cracked a home run with two out and a mate aboard in the top of the eleventh inning yesterday to give the Phils a 5-3 victory over the New York Giants.

Ryan's blow came off George Spencer who had relieved starter Larry Jansen after the Giants had fought back from behind in the ninth to deadlock the game at 3-3 and force it into overtime.

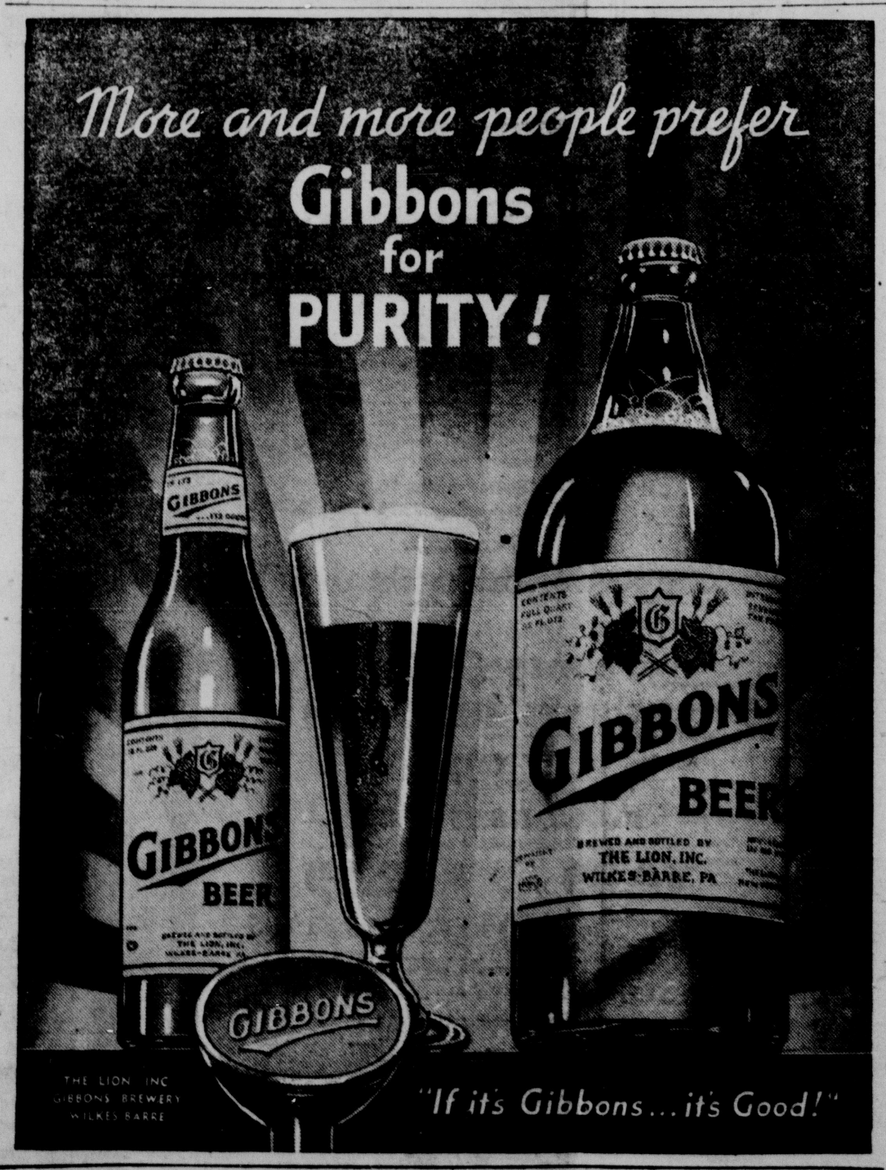

Lead

The Phils had forged ahead in their half of the ninth, snapping a 2-2 tie when Del Ennis singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Ryan.

Dodgers Blast Braves, 8-2

Boston (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers swept their first 1952 series yesterday by over-powering the Boston Braves, 8-2, behind a 17-hit attack. During the three games here, the Dodgers totaled 48 hits for a sensational .378 team batting average.

As was the case in the two previous games, Manager Charley Dressen started a southpaw against the Tribesmen, the veteran Johnny Schmitz, who gave up seven hits.

Carl Furillo, with four singles, and Andy Pafko, who clouted a homer and a double, led the Brooklyn attack.

(My Commission Expires Mar. 5, 1953)

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 2 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, its amendments and supplements, that the School District of Stroud Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, intends to adopt a Resolution levying a $10.00 per capita tax for School purposes at a meeting of the Board of Directors of said School District to be held on the 12th day of May, 1952, at Seven o'clock, Eastern Standard Time. The reason which, in the judgment of the Board of Directors of the School District of Stroud Township, necessitates the tax is that the present revenues of the School District are not sufficient to pay salary increases of the teaching staff, to pay the cost of repairs and maintenance of equipment, furniture and buildings; to pay the cost of additional pupil transportation and to pay a portion of the rental obligation of said School District under a contract with the State Public School Building Authority. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is the sum of $21,280.00.

By order of the Board of Directors
LORING H. CRAMER,
President
LILLIAN SHOOK, Secretary
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF STROUD TOWNSHIP

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received and publicly opened and read by the Supervisors of Barrett Township, Monroe County, at Canadensis, Pennsylvania, until 7:30 p.m., EST., May 1, 1952, for the following:

Twenty-four feet of 48-inch concrete pipe delivered; crushed stone 500 tons No. 3-A modified, spread on job; 1400 tons No. 2-B 70% crushed stone, spread on job; 400 tons No. 1-B 100% crushed stone, delivered to stockpile, Mountainhome; 400 tons pea gravel ⅜ size, delivered to stockpile, Mountainhome; 30,000 gallon road oil, delivered C-1, C-2, H-1 more or less.

Proposal forms, Specifications, Form of Contract and Instruction to Bidders may be obtained at the home of, or by writing to Daniel A. Price, Secretary, Board of Supervistors, Canadensis, Pennsylvania.

The materials specified herein, shall meet the Standard Specifications of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

The successful bidder, when awarded the contract, shall furnish a bond with suitable, reasonable requirements, guaranteeing performance of the contract or (delivery to be made) with sufficient surety in the amount of 50 per centum of the amount of the contract.

All proposals must be upon the form furnished by the undersigned.

The supervisors reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

DAVID A PRICE
Secretary of Board.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Sensible warnings to be mindful of what you say, do and how you do it. Don't argue needlessly; don't override the rights of others.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Some restrictions likely, can be for our good. They give us time to finish tasks, ready our work bench, desk or home for a busy next week.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Friendly Mercury rays from yesterday still linger; but on whole calls for patience, careful analysis of important issues, close attention to duties.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Your Moon and other planets not all auspicious in aspect, advise extra caution in money transactions, dealing with property, other ventures. But don't fret.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Your activities are in the "be careful" category. Stop to think, plan before carrying out new ideas or ventures, but don't set back and worry.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Much is up to you and how demanding your program is. If not too exacting a day, you should be able to get things done efficiently. Be more careful signing checks, contracts, etc.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—One of those in-between days, neither too auspicious nor yet too hindering in tendency. The quicker you start day's essentials, the easier you will earn relaxation. Keep calm.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Day a challenge to your ingenuity, managerial ability and cheer despite lack of much help. You are usually at best when put to the test.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter nit in influence, Mars shows some restrictions. Scan carefully your day's MUSTS and treat them conscientiously, and in turn, Other matters will come later.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn—Have time for reflection, to check week's doings. Today is prime for finishing all tasks. Don't crowd self with unnecessary activities but do the essentials well.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—All matters may not be wholly as you desire but this is true for many today. Make the most of your responsibilities with the talent and capability God gave you.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your Neptune more favorably aspected today. Fresh advantages for shipping, chemicals, oil. Confidential interests sponsored.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are brain workers, can create new methods for advancing the usefulness of items, machinery, tools, etc. Should be fond of music, entertainment; are often humorous, interesting, but seldom like to submit to the directions of others. Ask God's help daily and you can reach the top in profession, trade, whatever calling. Birthdate: Flavius Gratianus, ancient Roman emperor.

AAA Travel Counselors In Session

Pocono Manor — Approximately 75 travel counselors representing 57 AAA automobile clubs in Pennsylvania are expected for the 1952 Spring Travel Counselors School to be conducted today and Saturday at Pocono Manor Inn.

The school is one of a series conducted semi-annually by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, of which State Secretary of Commerce Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre, is president, for the purpose of bringing travel counselors up-to-date on the latest information in the field of travel.

Pre-business sessions got under way last night with a dinner and get-together for travel counselors from the various AAA clubs throughout the State.

R. B. Maxwell, of Harrisburg, secretary-manager of the PMF, will welcome counselors attending the opening session this morning.

Addresing the group at the opening session will be:

Thomas M. Smith, manager of the AAA Travel Service Department; Charles Pratt, director of service, D.C. Division; W. K. S. Hershey, secretary of the White Rose Motor Club, York, and Charles E. Pugh, Harrisburg, manager of the PMF's License Service Department.

This afternoon will be devoted exclusively to a bus tour of the Pocono area for the purpose of allowing travel counselors to inspect hotel and vacationing accommadations in the area at first-hand.

Allan C. Hunsinger, secretary of the Lackawanna County Motor Club, Scranton, will serve as moderator for a panel on travel at the closing session on Saturday.

Travel counselors from AAA clubs in Delaware, New York and New Jersey are also expected to attend the Spring school.

"Instant Beauty"
liquid tinted base,
A new way to
"INSTANT BEAUTY" is a new kind of tinted make-up base . . . liquid, free-flowing, easy-spreading. In two minutes it brings that much-envied pore-less, flawless, blemish-free look . . . adds life and glow to powder and rouge. Unlike heavy, greasy foundations, "INSTANT BEAUTY" feels so light and dewy-moist, you forget you're wearing it.
It costs you nothing extra so try "INSTANT BEAUTY"! For a limited time, a generous trial flacon comes as a gift with "Air-Spun"., the famous precision-blended Face Powder . . . both beautifully color-matched in six high-fashion shades . . . both at the regular price of "Air-Spun" Powder!
Try it at NO EXTRA COST with "Air-Spun" face powder
